VOLUME 22 SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1934 NUMBER 68

GIANT CELEBRATION IS PLANNED FOR AIRPORT DEDICATION JULY 3-4

Plans to make the municipal airport dedication ceremonies July 3 and 4 the most notable and memorable of any similar festival staged in Southeast Missouri are progressing daily as members of the city aeronautics board effect arrangements for the various entertainments which will be presented during those two days.

Thirty-five ships are expected here for the celebration, including one each from the Shell Petroleum Company, piloted by Jimmy Doolittle, and from the Robertson Aircraft Company of St. Louis, and probably the air fleet of the Missouri National Guard and a plane from the Phillips Petroleum concern. Charles Kratochvil will also be here again with his eight-passenger flamingo ship. These planes will participate in formation and spot flying and in stunt flying at night, and will aid in parachute jumping feats.

An attempt is being made to bring flyers here, among them Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was invited several weeks ago. Of the ones who have already accepted, Jimmy Doolittle has probably the most enviable career. After the World War, during which he was an army flying instructor, Doolittle became associated with the Curtiss-Wright concern. In its service he flew to all sections of the country, but it was not until he went to South America that he leaped almost overnight from obscurity to fame.

He was sent to Argentina as a representative of the Curtiss-Wright company for a test flight over the Andes mountains, which was to be conducted by the government of Argentina, officials of which were attempting to decide from what manufacturer of air ships to buy planes.

The night before the flight Doolittle sustained two broken ankles, when he fell from a second story window of a Buenos Aires hotel. Contrary to general supposition, he had himself transported to the airport in a cot the following morning and got in his plane to compete with representatives of numerous rival companies. In his Curtiss-Wright ship, Doolittle rose with other flyers, but he alone successfully crossed the Andes to win a contract for his company.

A MORON PROWL

A young woman who works in a department store here returned Friday evening to the house where she rooms and went into the bathroom to bathe.

While she was in the tub she chanced to look at a small window, which is situated high in the wall and is some distance from the ground outside the house. There she saw the face of a man, peering in through the glass. When she screamed however, it disappeared.

During an investigation her landlord discovered, placed near the window, a box set in a wheelbarrow, which belonged to a neighbor. On this improvised pedestal the man was evidently finding perverted pleasure.

RAINBOW SHADOW BOX LIGHTING NEW FEATURE ON THE "PRESIDENT"

The big ballroom lighting of the new Strefkus Steamer "President" has excited more interest and comment than almost any other feature on this many-faceted boat. At St. Louis, at New Orleans, and at every river town between where the President stopped last fall, crowds were held spell bound at the varied and beautiful lighting effects created by the unique shadow-box.

"It's just like dancing in a rainbow," is the way one girl described it, as the rich blues, warm reds, brilliant yellows and soft greens faded into one another—a different combination of lights for every dance. So flexible is this system that it provides for more than light, beautiful and varied lighting effects.

Psychologists say that light and color affect our moods as well as sound. If this is true, then the dancers are assured of a wonderful evening when the S. S. President stops at Cape Girardeau for a Starlight Outing on Thursday, May 31, for the lilting music of Fate Marable and his famous "Cotton Pickers" will add its charm to the magic of the rainbow shadow-box ballroom lighting.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR COUNTY CANNING

Jefferson City, May 21.—A survey of the state is being made to determine what local equipment and supervision is available for county food canning centers. The centers will be operated by the State Garden Program to can the produce from home and community "relief" gardens. County garden supervisors, at a series of district meetings, have been instructed to report to the state office, suitable buildings, canning machinery, and persons capable of supervising conservations centers in their counties.

While the State Garden Program will furnish cans for the project it is the intention of state relief officials to utilize available equipment and personnel in the canning centers where possible. The goal of the project is five million cans of vegetables for winter relief, in addition to large stores of potatoes, turnips, sweet potatoes, cabbage, onions and dried beans, which are being grown on 3000 acres of community gardens.

All work in the canning centers will be done by persons on relief rolls, on a work relief basis, and home gardeners taking produce to be canned will be required to do their own canning, and to assist in other work about the center.

State Tax Group to Convene Here Friday

Members of the State tax commission, Roy McKittick, the attorney-general, or his representative, the county assessor, clerk, prosecuting attorney, and members of the County Court will meet in Sikeston today to discuss plans for making the provisions of the Jones law operative in Southeast Missouri.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Langdon Jones of Dunklin County, is intended to relieve property owners in levee and drainage districts of double taxation and provides that the value of the land in the improvement districts shall be relieved of that portion of the assessed valuation represented in the

Miss Shirley Shainberg Sings With Dance Band

Shirley Shainberg, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Shainberg, gave such a pleasing performance when she sang popular songs with Jack Himmelberger's Cape Girardeau orchestra at the high school dance which was staged after the commencement exercises Monday evening that she was invited to sing again with the band when it played at a dance following the Cape Girardeau Teachers' College graduation on Thursday night.

SHANKLAND GROUP TO PRESENT NEW PLAYS

The Shankland Stock Company, well-known here, returns to Sikeston this year for a week, beginning Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It will be located on the John A. Matthews lot, where North Ranney street meets Greer avenue.

The company boasts a new vaudeville tent and a change of play, vaudeville and music every night. The opening performance will feature, "Oh, What a Night".

Playing under the auspices of the International Athletic Association, old and new members of the cast, will appear in parts said to be admirably suited to them.

Lane Shankland, who chose the plays, will portray numerous diversified characters, and Miss

DUSTING POWDER FOR POTATO BUGS

Jefferson City, May 21.—An emergency shipment of 36,000 pounds of insecticide has been ordered to check the early, dry-weather attack of Colorado potato beetles that threaten more than 1200 acres of potatoes planted in Missouri "relief" gardens.

Enough dusting powder has been sent each county to control the present plague of chewing insects in the home and community gardens. The State Garden Program is fostering 75,000 home gardens, and 3000 acres of community gardens, located throughout the state.

The insecticide is already mixed calcium arsenate with lime, of sufficient strength to give complete control. Home gardeners, on application to their county supervisors, will be given a pound of insecticide, with directions for using it. Additional dusting powder will be furnished each county for its gardens as needed.

More than 125 machine type dusters have been purchased by the State Garden Program for dusting the large-acreage tracts in the community gardens.

MAME SHANKLAND PLAYS SWEET, LOVABLE PARTS

Others in the troupe are Jimmie Hohn, a red-headed comedian, who is considered extremely funny; Miss Laura Hahn, who, though herself young, portrays mother parts with skill, as well as those of a comedienne; Alice Mudd, the ingenue; Stella Stone, who plays new and original dances each night; Miss Gertrude Thomas, who is featured in the vaudeville performances; and Pudge Hiseley, Homer Sconover, Hal Barber, J. R. Jenkins, Art Mutt and Bus Wilson, who all have important parts in the supporting cast.

Admission to the entertainments will be 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. Reserved seats will be on sale every day, starting at 12:30 o'clock.

MOUNTED POLICE BRING STAGE ACT

They always get their man—these Royal Northwest Mounted Police—but when they come to the Malone Theatre Sunday they'll be out on a different mission.

The police are said to be the only performers of their kind ever seen in the United States and are credited with creating favorable comment wherever they appear. Their show combines education and entertainment; numbers. The performance is said to be a happy blending of mirth, melody and music. One of the numbers in the act is the showing of many slides on the screen picturing some of Alaska's and Canada's early history, bad men, and famous characters of the Sourdough country.

GRABER'S STORE SHOE DEPARTMENT IMPROVED

The shoe department at Graber's department store has been changed this week. The space devoted to that part of the firm's stock has been enlarged to provide additional room for customers, new leather-covered, stuffed sea horse have been installed, and the majority of them white, and all of them in modern styles in sizes from triple A to D, has been received.

CHEVROLET SHIPMENTS FROM FACTORY INCREASE

The Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company here is now receiving shipments of automobiles and is able again to make immediate deliveries. For a time, demand throughout the country exceeded production and shipments to Sikeston were irregular and insufficient to supply the firm's customers.

NEW MADRID RESIDENTS WILL DRINK IN PUBLIC

New Madrid citizens approved the sale of liquor by the drink Tuesday by a vote of 454 to 58. One saloon has already opened, according to reports, and proprietors of stores will soon make provision to handle liquor, it is thought.

New Madrid is the fourth Southeast Missouri town to join the sale-by-drink ranks. The others are Forneft, Caruthersville, and Steele. Campbell and Poplar Bluff residents rejected the proposition.

BLUE RHYTHM BOYS TO PLAY AT DANCE TONIGHT

A dance for the benefit of V. L. Kirby's municipal baseball league team will be given tonight (Friday) in the Armory here, beginning at 9 o'clock. The Blue Rhythm Boys, a well-known orchestra, will play at the dance. The admission price will be 40c.

NEGRO BASEBALL TEAMS TO PLAY

A two-game baseball series will be played here Saturday and Sunday afternoons between Negro teams from Sikeston and Memphis.

LAW PROTECTS MARTINS

In a warning to boys who have been shooting at martins recently, bird-lovers state that the martins are migratory birds, protected from destruction by law. Persons caught shooting them may be prosecuted, they say.

MORLEY COUPLE WED SATURDAY

Harley Stubblefield and Miss Gracie Brown, both of Morley, were married last Saturday afternoon at the local Nazarene Parsonage, Rev. C. F. Transue officiating. Mrs. Transue acted as witness. The young couple will make their home in Morley.

FORTY-TWO SENIORS GRADUATED MONDAY

A crowd which filled the Sikeston high school auditorium witnessed the commencement exercises of the school's forty-two seniors Monday evening.

They saw the graduates, in caps and gowns, march down the center aisle to the platform, followed by members of the girls' glee club, in uniform white, red-trimmed dresses, singing the processional, "America the Beautiful". They heard Dr. W. W. Parker, the president of Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College, address them, and they listened while the glee club sang Spross' "Will o' the Wisp" and Oley Speaks' "Morning", and Charles Allen Cook, accompanied by Adagene Bowman at the piano and Danny Malone, playing a violin obligato, sang Bond's "Perfect Day".

They watched the eighth grade graduates receive their high school entrance certificates and students in all classes march up to get cash awards and medals signifying achievements.

Dr. Parker, telling the graduates that they were in the process of finishing, said they could well heed the advice of three of England's most notable nineteenth century philosophers, Matthew Arnold, Thomas Carlyle, and John Ruskin.

Arnold, he said, preached the gospel of intelligence. Present day Americans have on the whole retained highly only those who entertained them; contemporary philosophers, he said, advocate a pessimistic theory of futility. Arnold, on the other hand, stated that it is an obligation and necessity to be as intelligent as possible.

Carlyle preached the gospel of work, of the reaction of the worker on work, of executing the duty nearest at hand. Never procrastinate, he said. There is no future, and added Dr. Parker, if young people cannot achieve in the "eternal now" they never will, for they will not change their mode of living no matter how often they promise to.

Ruskin preached the gospel of cultivated taste. Dr. Parker said. He fought against unnecessary ugliness and believed that the educated man is one who instinctively prefers the noble to the ignoble. There is no wealth but life, Ruskin said.

You graduates, Dr. Parker concluded, may benefit by remembering these three doctrines, of intelligence, of work, and of cultivated taste, as you leave here for employment or further schooling.

After J. W. Baker, Jr., as president of the school board, had presented the diplomas, Roy V. Ellise, superintendent of schools, Roger Bailey and Wm. E. Mahew announced separate awards for the year. A list follows:

Honor graduate, Ruth Moore; second, Adagene Bowman; third, Gwendolyn Duncan. Senior boy making the highest average: Orville Lumsden and William M. Werneck, tie; third, Harry Hart, Jr.

American Legion citizenship medals, awarded to the most outstanding, all-around senior and junior: Senior, Charles Allen Cook; junior, Mary Emma Powell. Auxiliary history prize, Adagene Bowman; trophy to the most accomplished and versatile athlete, Billy Donnell; D. A. R. prize to the eighth grade student who is most proficient in American history, Tommy Marshall; Auxiliary citizenship prize, Peggy Donnell.

Students who have completed a year of post graduate work in commercial courses, A. J. Rushing, Jr., who last year was the Charleston high school honor graduate, and Louise Wood, a graduate of the Sikeston high school.

The program ended with a recessional. "The Alma Mater", which members of the glee club and persons in the audience sang as the seniors marched from the stage.

ROSEMARY BLANTON IS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

As honor graduate in the eighth grade class at the St. Francis Xavier school here, Rosemary Blanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Blanton, has been awarded a four-year scholarship to Arcadia Academy and College, which is operated in Arcadia, Mo., by the Ursuline nuns. If she accepts the scholarship, Miss Blanton will leave for Arcadia in September.

Rain Needed In Most of State

Rain is now badly needed in about four-fifths of the State, according to Roscoe Nunn, meteorologist in his weekly report from the United States Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau in St. Louis.

Some farmers are now hauling water for livestock, especially in the east-central sections, and rainfall from April 1 to this week is 63 per cent of normal.

Crops made good progress while the moisture lasted, that is, for about five days, but came to a standstill in most sections by the end of the week. Wheat is heading pretty generally, and a critical situation exists with respect to moisture. Unless good rains come within the next few days, heads will not be well filled in most fields. However, in some parts of the northwestern quarter, where heavy rains recently fell, wheat is reported in good to excellent condition.

Oats, alfalfa, pastures, and gardens did well for a few days, but were making little if any progress at the end of the week. Oats are heading, mostly on short straw. Alfalfa is slower than usual; no reports of first cutting have been received. Chinch bugs are causing considerable damage in various sections, mostly north-central.

Corn made good progress for several days, and the condition of corn generally is good, with some very good. But it was slowing down at the end of the week on account of lack of moisture. Some corn has been cultivated the first time.

Cotton, in the lower southeastern counties, is reported in unusually good condition. Strawberries were marketed in large quantities during the week and are still bearing well in most of the district.

Semo Praised By Rockefeller Heir

J. Rockefeller Prentice, a grandson of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., sat comfortably in a chair in the Hotel Idan-Ha's lobby in Cape Girardeau last week-end. He looked about and spoke to his companions, who had come to inspect Southeast Missouri insurance firm holdings. "This is a beautiful country," he said. "It's good to be here and see the green trees, meadows, and so many flowers and enjoy the pure atmosphere. I feel great. And I'm glad to get out of Chicago and see something besides pavement and walls of tall buildings".

After calling Jack Ahlsted, he Idan-Ha hotel chef, the 31-year-old capitalist ordered extra quality steaks for a party of ten, who were served dinner in the hotel's private dining room. When he had finished the meal, Prentice seemed well-pleased. "Those were the best steaks I have had in a long time," he said. "These Missouri towns can show just as efficient hospitality as the larger cities".

Prentice, a hard worker, supported himself while he was attending college, at one time teaching for a telephone switchboard.

He is still industrious, according to his friends, who say he often remains up late to tend to business matters.

SHOOTSELF ACCIDENTALLY

V. T. Craig, 35 years old, of Malden, was treated here early Thursday morning for a bullet wound above the elbow of his right arm.

Craig stated that he shot accidentally himself with his 32-20 pistol when he returned to his automobile after fishing in a place three miles west of Matthews. Becoming unconscious from the bullet which pierced through the flesh of his arm, he lay until 1 o'clock Thursday morning, when he rose and walked to a farm house nearby. A young woman, he said, brought him here and he sat in a cafe until a physician arrived to treat him.

At 5 o'clock Thursday morning, his brother, L. C. Craig, and his wife came here to drive him back to Malden.

The Angel of Death Visited—

JAMES WILLIAM PRICE

James William Price died at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Price, Saturday, May 19th, at the age of four months and nineteen days. His death was caused by bronchial pneumonia. He leaves to mourn his death his mother, father, brother, two grandmothers, two grandfathers, aunts, uncles and cousins.

LEM HAMBY

Funeral services for Lem Hamby, 50-year-old shipping clerk for the Miles Packing Company of Cape Girardeau, who died after an heart attack at his home Monday morning, were conducted at 10:00 o'clock Wednesday morning at the First Baptist church in Cape Girardeau by the Rev. E. D. Owen, pastor of the church. Burial was in the City Cemetery here.

Mr. Hamby was born September 13, 1883, in Marion, Ky., where he spent his early life and was married in 1905 to Miss Nellie Tabor, who survives him. Three years later he moved with his family to Blodgett, where he lived for seventeen years before moving for a short time to Crowder and then, in 1927, to Cape Girardeau.

Besides his wife, Mr. Hamby is survived by eight children, Mrs. Duree Noland, Tom, Marvin, Lem, Jr., George, Jerry and Lois Hamby, all of Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Nathan Frederick, St. Louis; three brothers, Pratt and Val Hamby, both of Vanduser, and Lacy Hamby, Princeton, Ky.; a sister, Mrs. Nannie Morris, also of Princeton; his father, W. L. Hamby, Vanduser; and a grandson, Jackie Noland, Cape Girardeau.

KEWANEE CHILD BURIED SATURDAY

Funeral services were held last Saturday morning, 11 o'clock, at the General Baptist church near Kewanee for Morva Lee Beardsley, aged about two years, who died at her home Friday of heart trouble and other complications. Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the local Nazarene Church, officiated with burial in the family cemetery near that place.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLSTON WOMAN FRI.

Funeral services were held last Friday afternoon at the Fisk General Baptist church for Mrs. Iva Cullin, 21, of Charleston, who died at her home last Thursday of tuberculosis. Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the local Nazarene church, conducted the services, and burial was in the Ash Hill Cemetery near Fisk.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Cullin is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brothers, also of Charleston.

SISTER DIES IN INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adams left here Monday evening for Seymour, Ind., to attend funeral services for Mrs. Adams' younger sister, who died in a Columbus, Ind., hospital after an appendectomy operation. Mr. Adams will return the last of this week, but it is probable that Mrs. Adams will remain indefinitely in Seymour with her aged mother, who is alone now that her younger daughter has died.

CHARLES MARGRABE

Funeral services for Charles Margrave, who died of cancer at his farm home, two miles east of Chaffee, Tuesday, were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Chaffee. The Rev. W. W. Walker, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Margrave, who was 77 years old at the time of his death, was born near Gordonville. In 1881 he was married to Miss May Deiters, who survives him. With his family he has at different times, lived in Kelso, Advance, Morley, Portageville, and near Chaffee.

Besides his wife, Margrave is survived by six children, Henry, Everett, and Robert Margrave, all of Chaffee and W. H. and Herman Margrave and Mrs. Henry Brunke, all of Cape Girardeau; seventeen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

BOXERS TO MEET IN CAPE

Thirty-two rounds of boxing will be featured on a fight card in Cape Girardeau which is scheduled for Monday night.

The main bout of eight rounds will be fought by Jackie Don Burton of Blytheville, Ark., and Billy Caldwell of McClure, Ill. Others on the program will be two heavyweights, Eddie Clinton, of Shawnee, Okla., versus Red Daugherty of Anna, Ill., and Ralph French, of St. Louis versus Nolan Lambert of Hot Springs, Ark., both in fights of six rounds. There will also be three four-round bouts.

OFF TO THE RACES

Four race horses stopped briefly in Sikeston yesterday on their way, presumably, to some track. While their drivers relaxed they stood patiently in the well-lined stalls, occasionally nipping at bundles of timothy hay hung near them. Since their truck and the one which accompanied them bore Georgia licenses, it is easy to imagine that they are southern thoroughbreds invading the north for the summer season.

Lawyer Darrow and NRA Johnson are having a bit of fun for and against the NRA. Darrow may be right in a way and Johnson may be right in another way. At least Johnson is trying to uphold the President in his efforts to help the man at the bottom of the ladder. There is no doubt but what the NRA has handicapped small business concerns, at the same time if each of us will do our part and pull together we may better conditions all down the line. The President's ideas have given labor a lot of employment that has kept many from actual starvation.

Young women of Dunklin County, puzzled about what men prefer, will probably be interested in the views of 150 men students at the University of Chicago. A plump brunette, "with Mae West curves" was the favorite. Other attributes and accessories that scored with the males were: clinging clothes, small hats, smart carriage, perfume delicately used, bright colored dresses for day and present skirt lengths. The undesirable, as listed, included tailored mannish suits, galoshes, white stockings, eye shadow, bright nail polish, excessive make-up and gaudy jewelry.—Kennett Democrat.

The editor and publisher is very much embarrassed to find the program that was given by Mrs. Ralph Anderson's music pupils was buried under other copy and the new linotype operator failed to get it into type. The fact was not discovered until part of the edition had been run. Likewise, half of the edition had been printed before it was discovered a signature had been omitted from the Dobbs hat advertisement. These things are regrettable as well as costly.

The LaPlata Home Press wishes someone to write something on "yes-men". In politics or on city councils we have heard it said there were "yes-men" who voted "yes" on any subject that came up for action all because the "boss" voted that way. At home every married man is a "yes-man" if he has a happy home.

No newspaper is worth two hoots in a barnyard that never steps on anyone's toes.

An American boy will quit the farm to keep from getting up at 5 a. m. After he goes in business in the city he gets up at 4 a. m. to play golf.

From a southern State comes the sad tale of an NRA enthusiast who took an extra wife and received a summons instead of a Blue Eagle.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

The broad, general rule is that a man is about as big as the things that make him mad.

You can live cheaper but not happier when your wife's reducing.

In spite of the disparity between the smallest and the largest of American newspapers, the publisher of the small country weekly need not be overawed by the size of his metropolitan rival. The local newspaper has a place in the life of its community which the local dailies cannot usurp if the great dailies cannot usurp if the opportunities and makes the most of them. Now, as always, the hometown newspaper is the best and cleanest exponent of constructive journalism.

No doubt most of us would vote it a pleasing address if it was delivered in ten minutes, but the great trouble is the speakers all appear to think the audience is enjoying it as much as the speaker, which, of course, it not true.

Judge Charles A. Leedy and daughter, Miss Polly, of Kansas City, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartly the first of the week. The Standard editor acknowledges an enjoyable social call from the Judge while here.

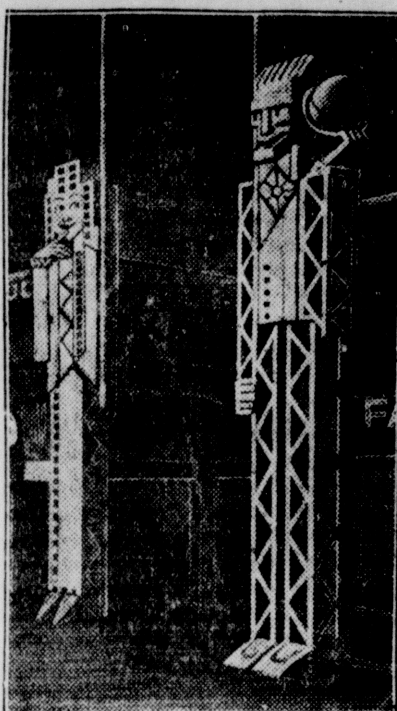

We had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Parker, president of the Cape Teachers College, at the Auditorium Monday evening and was delighted at his democratic demeanor. He has the appearance of being a real man with a personality that will attract and hold those with whom he contacts. With Dr. Parker at the head of this institution we see no reason whatever for any pupil to go elsewhere for an education.

Hon. John J. Cochran, St. Louis Congressman, has entered the Senatorial race on the Democratic ticket to succeed Roscoe Patterson, Republican of Springfield. This gives three avowed candidates on the Democratic ticket. From Washington City comes word that Speaker Meredith, of Poplar Bluff, will withdraw from the race. That being the case, we shall vote for Tuck Milligan, of Richmond, Mo., who, we believe, will make the strongest voice-getter at the polls in the Fall election. However, we shall be for the nominee whoever he shall be.

SOME SCOTT COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Supervisors for measuring up land for the wheat contracts in Scott County will start work next Monday. The supervisors will call at the farms, measure up the land which is being taken out of production and being idle and also measure all the fields sown to wheat. The government required that the land which is left idle must be staked, in order that the supervisors may measure it properly. Every contract signer should see to it that it will be easy for the inspector to locate his fields. As far as possible, notice will be sent in advance when the inspectors will arrive, but this is impossible in most cases, as it is hard to make out the schedule. Also a certificate of compliance must be signed by each and every producer and this Compliance Certificate is handed to the supervisor at the time they measure up the land.

Although the supervisors will take measurements on the various fields, the acreage of the field is not calculated by these men, but they merely write the measurements on a card and calculations are made in the office of the secretary later. The measuring device which is used, consists of a bicycle wheel set in a frame and the revolutions the wheel makes is recorded. These wheels are calibrated and from the number of revolutions the wheel makes in going across the field, it is easy to designate the distance. These wheels are used under most all conditions, exceptions being made where a wheel will not make a true measurement.

HOLDUP AT GAS STATION

Victims Lured by Bargain Price

Low Gravity Gas Robs You of Money
Steals Performance from Your Motor

This holdup is the unseen drama which may take place every time a motorist buys gas at a cut-price pump.

Some day, of course, he will know better! Like millions of experienced drivers, he will learn the money-saving benefits of Phillips 66... the bonest high test gasoline which sells at the price of regular.

You know what a difference high test makes in a motor. But do you know that Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline? Do you realize that only Phillips consistently publishes its gravity (or high test) figures? Month by month, we show how this gravity range changes as we match Phillips 66 to the variations in your weather. Thus the Phillips process of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY protects and insures finer performance.

You get more power and more miles. Better miles, too. Smoother, swifter, quieter. And your engine is so responsive and flexible that there is added pleasure in motoring.

But five gallons tell more than five thousand words. Hence we make this worth while suggestion: Before you buy your next tankful of gas at just any station which you happen to pass, look for the Orange and Black 66 shield. That's the place to Phill-up with Phillips.

SENSEBAUGH BROTHERS—Kingshighway & Malone

This method has proven very accurate and has been used by commercial concerns in the past. County Agent Furry and Assistant Agent Broom have been the past week getting these measuring devices ready for the inspectors.

The Corn-Hog Contracts for Scott County are still in the hands of the State Board of Review and it is hoped that they will soon be back to the County Agent sometime in the near future along with the Allotment which the County will receive, in order that the allotment may make final plans for the Corn-Hog Contract signers. For some unexplainable reason there has been much more delay in getting the contracts back to the county agent.

County Agent Furry states that they will make as rapid time as possible in the county as soon as the State Board of Review gets the allotments. Typists have been busy in the office ever since the data was sent to Columbia and now have all the contracts typewritten as required. This has been a tremendous job in that, twenty-five contracts was all that one typist could copy in a day and it has taken considerable time to type out the 813 contracts. Some rumors have been started, stating that due to the fact that they had not heard from the contracts that the program had been dropped. This is not true. The contracts are going ahead as planned, with the exception that the process is being slower than was first announced.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT EXPERIMENT STATION

The second annual field day at the Agricultural Experiment Station, four miles north of Sikeston will be held Friday, June 15th at 1:30 p. m. At this time, Prof. H. H. Krusekopf and Prof. B. M. King and others from the College of Agriculture will be present and give results of the experimental work to date, also other interesting features of the station.

Results of wheat varieties, oat varieties, barley varieties, hybrid corn, fertilizer on grains and legumes, liming and new legumes for Southeast Missouri will be discussed.

All farmers in Southeast Missouri should plan to attend this meeting.

SPOT IN ANDES MOUNTAINS COLDER THAN SOUTH POLE

Washington, May 21.—The "south pole of cold" is not in the Antarctic, but hundreds of miles nearer the equator in the Andes Mountains of South America.

It is the second most frigid spot on earth, with temperatures often as low as 70 below zero, comparable to the "north pole of cold" in Northern Siberia, says Director Navarrete of the Chilean Weather Bureau in a report to the Monthly Weather Review of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

This cold spot is a region about 80 miles wide, in the Andes Mountains of Northern Patagonia, along the Chilean-Argentine frontier. It is a place of deep valleys with high mountain walls, an ideal repository for the chilled air from the Antarctic that settles into it from higher levels.

ARRESTED FOR SHOOTING OUT STREET LIGHTS

Bill Wallace was arrested in Puxico a week ago, charged with giving an exhibition of wild-west shooting. He is charged in one warrant with shooting out some of the street lights of the town. Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat
In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 pounds until taking one box of Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at White's or Galloway's or any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts four weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. -1.

Pork Chops Become a Company Dish

By Caroline E. King
Home Economics and Culinary Authority

PORK chops have stepped up wonderfully within the past few years. And why not? A more savory, tender, delicate dish than a well browned, tastily seasoned, temptingly served pork chop with its accompanying rich hued gravy and correct garnish, it would indeed be difficult to imagine.

Garnish! There lies the secret. Rapidly we are learning that a fruit garnish adds to both the eye and appetite appeal of all kinds of meats—not to mention the fact that it provides an excellent means of including a greater variety of healthful fruits on our menus. To no meat dish is the fruit garnish a more welcome addition than to pork chops, and, to my way of thinking, no pork chops can quite equal:

Pork Chops with Cinnamon Apples. For this dish one selects plump, thick rib chops. Trim them neatly, dust with flour and brown them carefully in their own fat. This may be done either in a skillet over the fire or in the oven. Pork requires slow-cooking; so it will be well to keep the heat moderate. Season with pepper, salt and paprika while cooking and add a very little water to the pan after the meat has become browned.

Meanwhile pare large, tart, firm-fleshed apples, remove the cores, slice thickly crosswise, and drop into lemon flavored water to keep from darkening, while making a syrup in the proportion of 1 cup granulated sugar to ¼ cup of water. After five minutes cooking add a tablespoon of red cinnamon candies or drops, and simmer until the syrup is quite rosy. Now wipe the apple rings and drop them a few at a time into the syrup to cook very slowly. When tender and quite red lift them out.

In the center of each apple ring place a stuffed olive, or a bit of parsley.

When the chops are finished, top each one with a ring of apple, serve on a warm platter and garnish with cress or parsley. Gravy for this dish is especially piquant if to the liquid in the pan in which the chops were cooked is added the remainder of the syrup from the apples, with a little more water as required, and a tablespoon of sharp vinegar. Thicken slightly with a tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste with a very little water. Cook till clear, add seasoning if necessary then strain into a sauceboat.

DECEASED VETERANS' NAMES BEING SOUGHT

The names of all St. Louis World War veterans who died during the past year and of those whose graves were not decorated on Memorial Day in 1933, are being sought by members of the American Legion, according to Robt. J. Callahan, mortuary chairman of the St. Louis Commander's Conference.

On the graves of all World War veterans American Legion Post members, each group assigned to separate cemeteries, will place American flags and the Legion insignias. At the entrance of cemeteries in which three or more veterans are buried, women of the Legion auxiliaries will set wreaths and at those with less than three veterans, sprays of poppies.

Because burial records of dead veterans are incomplete, Callahan is issuing an appeal for necessary information so that no soldier's grave will be neglected. He may be reached at the Tile Guaranty Building in St. Louis.

MILLIONS are enjoying extra power— instant starts—and mileage—plus—from the thousands more firing charges in every gallon of improved Super Shell.

Old car owners, especially, have written in to say they get more power—and from one to two miles more per gallon.

For Super Shell is now "super-charged." Shell engineers have actually developed a way to "re-make" the chemical structure of gasoline and to pack up to 6900 extra firing charges in every gallon.

No matter what car you drive, buy Super Shell! Those additional firing charges will give you quicker get-away in traffic and extra power on hills. And you'll save money through more miles per gallon!

PAGEANT REPEATED IN POPLAR BLUFF

The Challenge of the Cross, which was presented at the First Baptist church here on Easter, will be repeated Friday night, June 1, in a tabernacle in Poplar Bluff, where Rev. Leslie Garrison, pastor of the Sikeston Baptist Church, is conducting a revival.

The pageant will replace a regular song service and will be followed by a sermon delivered by Rev. Mr. Garrison. Members of a sextet from here will sing "Take Up Thy Cross" as a complement to the pageant.

The following young women are in the pageant cast: Vernetta Smith, Lela Stacy, Freda Lankford, Marguerite Bryant, Lillian Limbaugh, Neva Mae Taylor and Alice Garrison.

Those singing in the sextet are Vernetta Smith, Virginia Martin, Thelma Lee, Mrs. Gladys Higgins and Grace and Ella Lee Evans.

Rev. O. K. Posey, of Malden, will preach at the Christian church

in Matthews Sunday night. The public is invited.

On their way to work Saturday morning the people of Sikeston will be offered little red poppies to wear in memory of the World War dead. They will also be offered an opportunity to contribute to the welfare of the war's living victims. All day Saturday members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will be on the streets with poppies and will receive contributions in exchange for the memorial flowers.

The custom of wearing poppies in memory of the war dead is fifteen years old this year, and is generally observed throughout the English speaking world. In the United States the women of the American Legion Auxiliary have developed it into a great national program for commemorating the services of those who died and for bringing aid to those who sacrificed health and strength in the nation's service.

Nearly ten million Americans wear the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary poppy each year on "Poppy Day", the Saturday before Memorial Day, and contribute nearly one million dollars for the relief of the war disabled, the widows and fatherless children. All of the poppies are made by disabled veterans, as the label on each poppy shows.

Early in the winter the making of the poppies which will be worn the following May, begins in the government hospitals and in special work rooms maintained by the Auxiliary throughout the country. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, are given employment shaping the little paper flowers. Discouraged men whose spirits have sunk to despair from months and years of unemployment are given the reviving experience of again earning money.

A penny each is paid for the making of the poppy. A veteran, if he is not too badly disabled, can easily turn out 300 of the flowers in a short working day. This is usually the maximum number the disabled men are permitted to make in a day to prevent them from overtaxing their strength. This is an earning of three dollars a day.

For men who have lain in hospitals for months feeling that they were useless incumbrances on the earth, three one-dollar bills actually earned are worth a fortune.

For the families of these men who receive little or no government compensation—the money earned often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter. For the men without families the poppy earnings provide a 'stake' for the day when they must go out and attempt to re-establish themselves in life against the handicap of their disabilities.

Veterans too badly disabled to make complete flowers sometimes form what they call "Poppy Corporations". Several of them work together on the same flower, each performing the operation which he can do and passing the flower on to the others to be completed. Even blind veterans can take part in the work under this arrangement.

Manufacturing the poppies involves large problems of financing, management and distribution for the Auxiliary women directing the project. This year wages paid to the disabled veterans will total nearly $100,000. Employment has been given to many hundreds in 58 different hospitals and work-rooms in 40 States.

The funds derived from the poppies are used by the Auxiliary and the American Legion in giving aid to disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead for whom no other aid is available. Groceries for the family of a veteran too sick to work—shoes for the children of a veteran lying ill in a distant government hospital—a loan to a convalescent veteran struggling to get back on his feet—these are typical of the purposes for which the poppy contributions are used. The money is expended largely in the community in which it is raised.

The wearing of the poppy draws its wide appeal from its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living. Every red flower worn on "Poppy Day" means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies in France, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men, women and children who are still fighting the long battle against physical and financial handicaps resulting from war service.

The Southeast Missouri baseball team which was to have been composed of teams from eight district towns will, for the present, at least, consist of players from Sikeston, Jackson, Cape Girardeau, and Illinois-Fornell. It is possible that two other towns may join the league later.

While a new schedule is being made, Sikeston will play a return game at Jackson Sunday and Illinois-Fornell will meet Cape Girardeau team at Cape Girardeau. Last Sunday Cape players won 5 to 4 from those of Illinois-Fornell, and Sikeston defeated Jackson here 2 to 0.

opinion was also voiced by a group of exhibitors, among them many from foreign lands.

These foreign exhibitors have kept pace with their fellow American exhibitors in the speed with which they have completed their task, and today everything is in near readiness for the 1934 edition of A Century of Progress.

All construction work was completed almost a week ago. Hundreds of workmen are now busy tidying up the grounds. Visitors on opening day will see as complete an exposition as at any time during the long summer and early fall months.

This gigantic task has been completed because of the hearty cooperation between exhibitors and officials of the Fair. They have worked in closets harmony since late winter and the many new structures have seemed to spring up overnight.

About 87 per cent of the structures of last year gave the exposition authorities a flying start. Contractors were better prepared to combat weather conditions and as a result there was much more speed than last year.

Consequently all construction work was completed ten days before the opening day and most of the concessionaires have their booths completely equipped for opening day.

All buildings of the 1933 exposition underwent some improvement. The new structures harmonize with the architecture that was the mode during 1933. Color schemes on some of the buildings were changed to conform to late suggestions of the late Joseph Urban, which could not be carried out last year.

Learns Share Cropper Suffers Most Under Cotton Reduction Plan

Most people think that the share cropper is in worse condition now, while he is working under the recovery program, than during the most lamentable year of the depression, Arthur Evans, a correspondent for the Chicago Tribune who recently spent two days in Sikeston and surrounding communities, learned.

The cotton worker is regarded as bearing the heaviest load under the acreage reduction plan of the AAA and the Bankhead law, he found. In many instances pressure is driving him and his family from the land into cities such as Cape Girardeau and St. Louis.

"Here in Sikeston," Mr. Evans writes, "tenant farmers and landowners in general hold that the cotton control project of the New Deal is working havoc with the croppers. Where the NRA, by reducing hours, seeks to make jobs for more workers the AAA, by reducing acreage, is reducing jobs for workers, and the farmers here hold that the Washington brain trust is thus traveling in opposite directions."

To explain conditions which he discovered Evans noted the case of E. F. Coleman. Of the 881 acres on the Coleman farm, located in Stoddard County, 367 are in cultivation. An average of 363 acres was planted in cotton in the base period of the acreage reduction plan. The yield was 234 bales in 1931 and 225 in 1932.

Under the Bankhead plan this farm's production was cut to 100 bales, a 56 per cent reduction. A second cut was made to 60 bales.

The government will pay $7.35 an acre rent on 97 acres of the Coleman farm, a price determined at the rate of 3 1/2 cents a pound on a yield of 210 pounds to the acre, although Mr. Coleman's records show the yield was 355 pounds during the base period.

Mr. Coleman is quoted as saying, "The cotton acreage on this farm was reduced from 323 acres, the base period average, to 145 acres, to produce 60 bales of tax exempt cotton. Rent is to be paid for 97 acres, making a total of 242 acres. Then we knock off for lack 81 acres, which is not to be put into cotton and on which no rent is to be paid. So our actual reduction in cotton acreage is 178 acres from the old 323 acres, for which the farm will receive $712 in rental payment."

There are sixty-seven persons in eleven share cropper families on the Coleman farm. Because the government insists that land lords maintain the same number of tenants they had on their farms in 1933 and because the families are still living on the farm and must be cared for, they will be retained and the reduced cotton acreage divided among them.

Evans writes: "In 1931 seven share cropper families had a return of $2627.26 or $375.30 per family. Out of this had to come the expense of extra cotton picking labor. In 1932, ten families on the same farm made $3019.52, an average of $301.95 per family. In 1934, eleven families on the farm, it is estimated, will make $1750, or an average of $159.10 per family."

Evans interviewed E. L. Limbaugh, who has been a tenant farm manager near here for thirty years and now had a 339 acre farm. Of this 250 acres were in cotton last year.

"My average cotton planting was 200 acres during the base period", Mr. Limbaugh is quoted as saying. "I was entitled to 114 acres under the reduction plan, but they slashed me far below this."

"I have 35 people to feed, and if I had signed, the share croppers would be cut out of work. So I told the AAA to go to hell. Now, I've planted double the cotton allotment they wanted to give me. I'll pay the 6 cents a pound tax, and I'd rather do that than go into the government deal, after they butchered me."

Mr. Limbaugh's attitude is said to be typical.

The local Baptist church was filled to capacity Sunday night with music lovers gathered to enjoy the sacred music concert given at the evening hour, with members of the local church participating. A male quartet from Herlin, Ill., was scheduled to take part on the program, but on the account of the serious illness of a relative of one of the young men, they were unable to appear.

Following is the program rendered:

Quartet—"One of God's Days"—Misses Virginia Martin, Vernetta Smith, Ella Lee and Grace Evans

Solo—"I Am Satisfied"—Carroll Rowe

According to those who were present, the program was a very enjoyable one, and especially were the performances of the colored quartet enjoyed, as was indicated by the hearty applause given them, and a unanimous encore.

And yet, as with food, there is more money than ever before; and, as with food, those who need it most find it most difficult to get. They should require us to take goods in payment. This would put an end to the demand for settlement, for our industrial interests would rather give receipted bills to England, France and Italy than to have their goods on sale in America. We not only required that the foreigners spend their entire loans for foodstuffs, munitions and machinery we had for sale but robbed them of their eyeteeth by the prices we charged. ## THE GRAFTER

By Art L. Wallhausen

When I'm elected President of these United States and island possessions I intend to put into practice a few of the ideas now in process of formation—or fomentation. One of them is in relation to that great year 'round indoor sport generally termed "hit the merchants." If a club drive is short, "hit the merchants." If the church needs new paint or a new door "hit the merchants." If anything, "hit the merchants." It is always and eternally the same, here in Poplar Bluff, in Cape Girardeau, in Dexter, Siketon, Centerville, or Podunk—hit the bloomin' merchants. That is the unvarying source of nickels and dimes and dollars. It is the Mecca and the manna. It is the unvarying answer to that great American question, "Where to get the money?"

Hit the poor old merchants! It is a gold claim that is being panned, washed, picked, sifted, prospected, and mined to death. And there are folks now sitting up nights trying to figure out some new means of doing the same old thing in a slightly different way. But always it amounts to the old, old sing-song:

Hit the merchants,
 Hit 'em often,
 Hit the merchants,
 High or low—
 But hit 'em!

This one is fondling a scrap of paper so thumb-marked and so worn and frazzled that the plea to help a "poor old sailor" buy a cork leg is almost illegible. In order to avoid contracting leprosy or worse the long-suffering merchant digs down and shells out a dime or a quarter. Another with a besmeared booklet pleads "Help resettle the church. We're calling on our business friends to help us out." And instead of helping the said gentleman bodily OUT, the harassed merchant buys a shingle, or a dab of paint. Not once but a hundred times in the course of a year.

Another is trying to help a crippled brother get into a sanatorium or out of jail. Another group of ladies is soliciting for a school curtain; for a church program; for a club benefit; for a class dinner; for yarn to help the Ladies' Missionary Society dedicated to the worthy cause of knitting girdles and neckties for the naked heathen. This one would like to have "just a dollar" to retire a pig note; to save the family homestead; to pay a hospital bill; to pave a street; to help the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Unemployed Nut and Bolt Makers, or the Associated Goldfish Feeders Union.

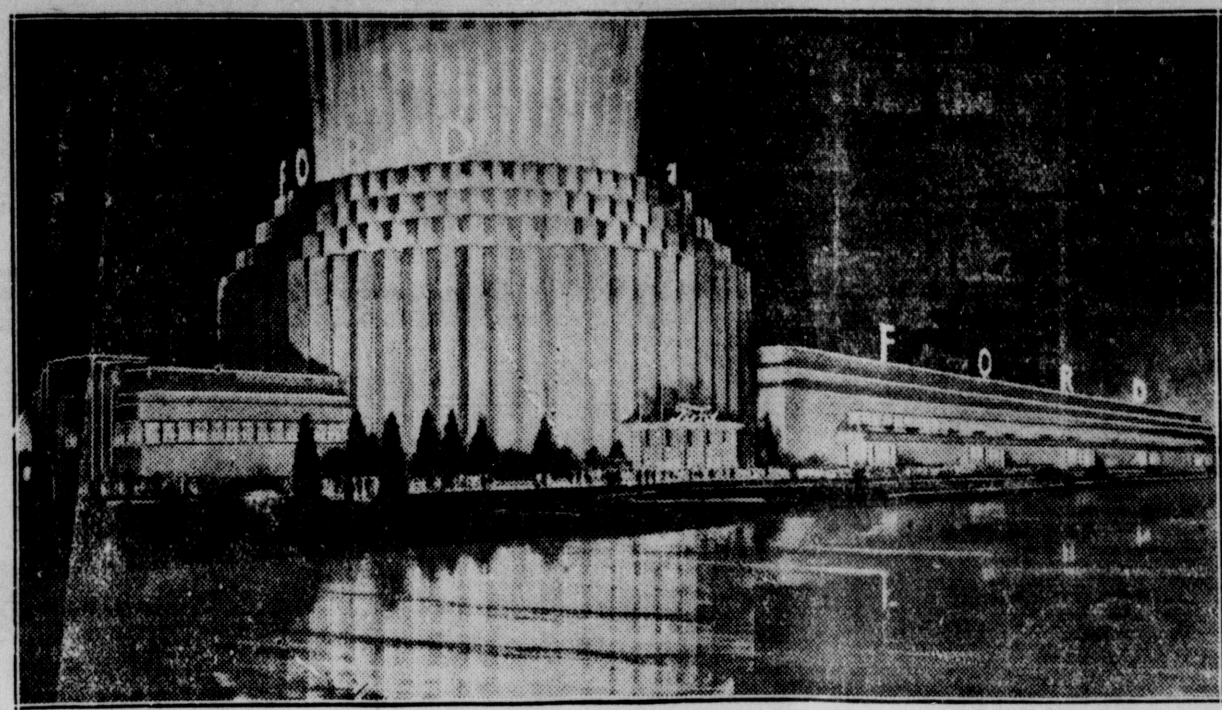

Every hour of every business day they come in unending streams. No retreat is secure. No merchant or business man is immune. They search him out, they pour it on, they take away his 50-cent piece, his quarter dollar, his dollar or his five-spot. Each day brings a new crop of bereft, lame, halt, blind, crippled, needy, unfortunate and indiscreet.

Honestly the long-suffering merchants are at the end of the hope. They donate to this and to that, year in and year out, and when a really worthwhile community party is staged they just do not know which way to squirm or turn. The two or three really big events in any community should be supported by public subscription, and very, very few merchants, business or professional men and public-spirited citizens like to refuse. They actually want to help, but by the time they have bought stage curtains for two dozen rural schools, bought and paid for programs to a hundred and fifty benefit plays and entertainments, sent all the beggars who want to go places somewhere else; paid all the mortgages on all the panhandlers' mothers' homes and helped out the Blue Cross, the Black Diamond, the Young Sprouts and the Many-mo Baseball League they just happen to run out of caps.

And the result is that the big, important, worthwhile events suffer for want of life blood—money. I sincerely believe that every Poplar Bluff merchant could well afford to keep books on the million and one donations made during the run of a year. Let him at the outset of a new year, then, make up his budget by setting aside $25 or $50 or $200, as the case might be, and mark that "Good will fund." Let him pool that general contribution with all the other contributions of all the other merchants, business and professional men, and let a bi-partisan, hard-boiled committee of three disburse that money on the merits of each individual case. The merchants would make money by this system; they would rest easier at night; the mendicants and the panhandlers would be disgusted more or less, and assurance would be given that honest-to-goodness community parties would be adequately financed and supported.

And another thing. Why not promote a Community Council which would plan the activities for at least six months in advance? As it is altogether too many charitable and benefit programs, to the lasting detriment of each sponsor-

A special part of the exhibit will demonstrate Henry Ford's own solution to the farmer's problem. With 84 miles of free exhibits, the new Fair will again be a spectacular international attraction.

Washington Comment

By Foust Roper

WASHINGTON, May 23.—As final acts of the recovery plan become law, one may begin to see how its different parts dovetail together. You cannot help but note the incisiveness and fine balance of the Roosevelt program.

One of the latest cogs in the machinery is the bill to provide credit for small industry. Representative Clyde Williams views this particular legislation as being one of the dominant factors in boosting employment and—above all things—putting the little man back on his feet. The bill was shaped by the house banking and currency committee, of which the Missourian is a member, and he knows whereof he speaks.

Can Borrow Directly

Under provisions of this act, small industrial concerns will be permitted to borrow directly from Federal Reserve banks and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Heretofore these two agencies have been able to extend credit to small firms only through banks.

Another change in the present set-up concerns the length of the loans. The Federal Reserve system deals mainly in 60- and 90-day paper, but through this act the small manufacturer and industrialist can borrow money for periods of years.

"Aid has been extended to banks, railroads, farmers and homeowners," Mr. Williams commented, "and now we are moving to help small business—one of the most important parts of our economic structure. From my study of this bill, I believe it is impossible to

ing organization. With a planned program and no kicking over the traces, the individual organizations would reap immeasurable benefit; the public would be assured better programs; and everyone would be a heap better off financially.

I need a new straw hat. Believe I'll follow the crowd and just "hit the merchants for a donation."

Ain't it awful?
 —Poplar Bluff Republican.

estimate the wide results it will have in improving conditions all over the country."

Clark Averts Red Tape

Senator Bennett Champ Clark went to bat for the little man last week when he introduced and secured passage of an amendment to the communications bill which will exclude small, independent telephone companies from cumbersome regulations of the measure.

But for Senator Clark's amendment, the smallest local exchanges would be under federal as well as state control. The burden of a duplication of a system of accounting would be added to their troubles. Missouri alone has about 700 such companies, Senator Clark told his colleagues.

Sad—But True

The Republicans are kidding themselves about that 29,000 majority in the seventh district, those fifteen Ozark counties which they consider the one bright spot on the G.O.P. horizon.

They credit the election of Frank H. Lee of Joplin, militant foe of Wall Street and the utilities, to the fact that he ran at large and received the support of the Kansas City organization. The records show that Representative Lee carried these 15 counties by a majority of 11,405, polling 66,843 votes to his opponent's 55,438. He lost only six of them and these by small margins. The Kansas City vote does not enter into these figures.

Those 20,000 surplus votes exist only where J. P. Morgan's losses do—on paper.

Needed: A Speaker Clark

What Mr. Roosevelt would give his right eye for is a house leader, famous Missourian—whose name or like Champ Clark. It was the still often heard on Capitol Hill—who devised a system of party discipline little short of perfect.

In Speaker Clark's time, even member stayed in line, because punishment or reward was meted out surely and swiftly. It is because the Demos have dropped this wise idea—which is the un-

Official and social Washington turns out en masse when the Russian ambassador and Mrs. Trotsky hold an at-home. They are said to entertain the most lavishly of all the diplomatic corps. One item they usually serve and which is always in great demand is vodka, the white, fiery liquor which is no less typically Russian than the red flag itself. Its appeal to Americans is due, so they say, to the fact it is so strongly reminiscent of bootleg gin.

Miscellany

Even after the Truman announcement, the senatorial bug did not stop buzzing around Representative Lozier's ears... By and large, the Missouri delegation is cold to the McLeod bill to pay off depositors of closed banks... You hear more and more talk of Senator Clark being the 1940 presidential nominee... A chat with members of the pitiful bonus army now here reveals their conviction a fair deal if anyone will. They despise Hoover... Up at the top of my list of fine people is Mrs. Clarence Cannon, wife of the sense of humor and is one of the representative. She has a grand most genuine persons I've ever met... Putting Andy Mellon's case in the hands of a Pittsburgh grand jury is like trying Hitler in a Nazi court.

EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND NEW HOMES A YEAR

According to the Research Department of the NRA, an annual building volume of 800,000 residential units is required to supply the need for new dwellings. This takes no account of replacement of existing sub-standard homes, and until these are replaced the needed volume could easily be at the rate of 2,000,000 structures a year.

A building revival could fall far below these high limits, and still be the most powerful factors in righting depression. No dollar is spent does more work, in stimulating domestic trade and providing employment, than does the building dollar. Surveys show that 37.3 per cent of all the money spent goes to labor at the site—to excavators, graders, carpenters, masons, plumbers, plasterers, etc. The balance of 62.7 per cent goes to buy needed materials and supplies—and the great bulk of that is paid to workers in the plants and factories manufacturing them. In general, about eighty cents out of each dollar goes to labor, directly or indirectly.

The heavy industries—those supplying such manufactures as steel, lumber, cement—were hit hardest by hard times. They are facing the gravest difficulties in recovering from them. Spurring construction would do much to solve a legion of our most troublesome problems.

DILLINGER APPEARS AGAIN

A man appeared recently at the door of a prominent tenant farmer, south of town.

"Is Mr. K. here?" the man asked the farmer's wife as she answered his knock.

"No," he isn't," she said. "I don't know when he'll be back."

"Is his son here?"

"No," she said, "he isn't here either."

"Well, tell them Dillinger was here to see them."

Terrified, the woman shut the door and ran to the telephone to call the son's wife. "And Dillinger was here and wants them both," she said.

In separate houses, the two women sat anxiously, thinking of possible danger to their husbands, perhaps repeating one horrifying word, Dillinger. At last the man appeared, calm, whole.

"But where have you been? Dillinger was here looking for you, and..."

"Oh, yes," they said, "Harry Dillinger. He's a buyer for a livestock commission house in East St. Louis."

Sikeston Beats Jackson 2 to 0 at Opening Game

By V. L. Kirby

Before a large crowd at the opening of the Southeast Missouri baseball league, the Sikeston nine defeated Jackson by a close score of 2 to 0.

With one down and Sherry on first base, the second hit off of Conyer for four innings, Crain drove a long double into center field to score Sherry for the first run. Crain later scored on a single by Bandy.

It was a pitcher's battle between Conyer of Jackson and Butler of Sikeston. Butler struck out fifteen Jackson players and allowed eight scattered hits, while Conyer yielded a total of five blows for Sikeston.

One of the feature fielding plays was Bandy's stop and throw of Putz's grounder, which looked like a sure hit. The kid shortstop had to travel fast and make a perfect throw to get his man.

The Sikeston team which is managed by Slim Limbaugh, will play at Jackson, Sunday.

CARRIGAN-TAYLOR

Miss Sara Elizabeth Taylor, of Sikeston, Mo., and Mr. Dean T. Carrigan, of Hot Springs, were quietly married Saturday evening, May 19, at their home, 24 Pullman avenue, at 9:30 o'clock. The Reverend Marion A. Boggs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the beautiful ring service in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Searcy and Sidney Moore, of Hot Springs, and Mrs. John Scott, of Sikeston, Mo., who served the bride as matron of honor. Little Jacqueline Sue Scott was the ring bearer.

The bride was lovely in an evening ensemble of white satin with accessories in harmony. She wore gardenias in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of white and pink roses. The bride's attendants were gowned in white net and embroidered organza with matching accessories. Little Miss Scott was dressed in pink crepe with blue accessories.

The date of the wedding was set for May 19, on which date the bride's and bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Carrigan celebrated their twenty-second and thirty-ninth wedding anniversaries, respectively.

Mrs. Carrigan is a graduate of the Sikeston high school with the class of '31.

Mr. Carrigan was educated in the schools of Hot Springs. He is connected with the Miller Cigar Store.

Following the ceremony the wedding party was entertained at Belvedere, where Lohengrin's Wedding Processional announced their arrival. "My Darling", and "I Love You Truly", played by the Belvedere orchestra, were dedicated to the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrigan are at home to their friends at 24 Pullman avenue.—Hot Springs (Ark.) New Era.

Tired of Winter? Give a Maple Taffy Pull to Welcome Spring

WHEN the running of the sap in the maple trees marked the end of winter's grip, even the sternest Puritans celebrated with a maple sugar festival.

This early American custom has always been a party favorite with the youngsters. A maple leaf outlined in tiny taffy balls makes a distinctive table center piece. Here is a failure-proof recipe for taffy and a fudge that will be extra creamy. The success of these recipes depends on the use of sweetened condensed milk which is thick and dense. Don't confuse this milk with evaporated milk which is unsweetened and thin in consistency.

Maple Taffy
1 1/2 cups (one can) sweetened condensed milk
1 cup maple syrup
Few grains salt
Cook the sweetened condensed milk, maple syrup and salt together

In a heavy pan. Stir over low heat until a hard ball forms when tested in cold water. Cool on a buttered pan. Pull until firm. Stretch into a long rope and cut in pieces.

Maple Nut Fudge
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup water
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup maple syrup
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup pecan meats broken in small pieces
Thoroughly blend sweetened condensed milk, water, sugar and maple syrup. Put in a sauce pan, heat gradually to boiling point, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Cook slowly, stirring frequently until the mixture will form a soft ball (235° F.) when tested in cold water. Remove from fire, add butter, but do not stir it in. When lukewarm, beat until it creams, add nut meats, spread in a buttered pan. When it hardens mark in squares.

COMPRESS AT MALDEN SUFFERS FIRE DAMAGE

The Malden Compress Company was burned early Tuesday morning, suffering damage estimated at $750,000.

The blaze, thought to be of incendiary origin, was discovered by Lon Guthrie, night watchman, who stated that flames started in three places simultaneously at 3 o'clock in the morning. An investigation was started at once.

Approximately 500 bales of cotton owned by the federal government and an additional 1000 belonging to numerous individuals, all stored in the compress building, were destroyed. Loss on machinery was estimated at $50,000, and on the building itself, $100,000. The office, where records were kept, and the engine room, were both preserved. Most of the property, cotton and machinery was at least partially insured.

The building, originally built in the south part of Malden by individuals in 1923, was later purchased by the Federal Compress Company of Memphis. The Malden branch was the northernmost one in the United States and was one of three in Missouri. The other two are located at Hayti and Caruthersville.

The Diamond Match Company, which is by far the largest match company in America, is a unique institution, and its president, W. A. Fairburn, is one of those old-fashioned gentlemen with rigid ideas on business morality. Some years ago, when the company experts had developed a process which removed all the health hazards to match workers, the Diamond Company offered the free use of all its patents to the process to its competitors.

Now the annual report of President Fairburn to his stockholders contains this remarkable statement: "The Diamond Match Company, as the largest match manufacturer, felt that, in order to have the code succeed and conform to the dictates and aspirations of the administration at Washington, it would be better to have the smaller manufacturers write the code. It was also felt that, what would be good for them would of necessity operate to the good of the industry as a whole, and, therefore, to the well being of your company."

EDITOR
SAYS—

Superintendent Ellise, of the local High School, informs us the Commercial Department of the school has turned out this time some splendidly equipped stenographers, type writers and book-keepers and wishes it were possible for them to be absorbed here in Sikeston. In many instances it has been a great sacrifice on the part of parents for these boys and girls to take the course and The Standard joins Superintendent Ellise in the wish these graduates may find a position here at home.

Several anonymous communications have been received about the late beauty contest. Some differed with the judges, who were strangers to the girls, to the Lions, the sponsors, and to Sikeston. All of these girls looked pretty to us in their party dresses and in their bathing suits. Not one of them but what would grace any young man's household and would make a man out of him. We were written by disappointed mamas or disappointed competitors. Such is life.

Bread cast upon the waters most generally returns in some form or other. Five years ago, H. L. Pybus and his 10-year-old son passed through Sikeston walking from Headland, Ala., to Savannah, Mo., to have the boy treated for cancer of the face at a sanitarium in that city. They had no money and the boy was in agony when they reached Sikeston. Dr. P. M. Malcolm gave a prescription and Dr. Derris filled same, all for nothing. This week Dr. Derris received a letter from Mr. Pybus telling him he had never forgotten the aid given him suffering boy and wanted he and Dr. Malcolm to know it. The boy was too far gone for safe treatment at Savannah, returned to his Alabama home, where he died February 13, 1930. We read the letter from this grateful father and the letter was appreciated by both the physician and druggist. We were asked to omit names, but credit for a humane act should be given where due.

If it could be so arranged that a good shower of rain and fertilizer could fall once a week until the gardens and crops are made, it would be a great thing for the country. Just now gardens need the rain badly and the fertilizer would make the growth.

We know there were a number of pretty girls in the graduating class, but not one of them looked pretty in the rented caps and gowns. Every one of these girls wore a pretty dress because we could see the flash below the gown. Why hide beautiful girls and beautiful dresses?

We are thinking of trying to rent the Bank of Sikeston building when it is vacated this Fall in order to try to fool somebody.

A private box of an Oklahoma school marm, in a bank, was opened recently and the Government agents took therefrom several pieces of gold. Now she will probably be prosecuted for not turning it in. If we were on a jury to try such a case, it would be a hung jury until hades froze over.

Senor Pepin Rivero, editor of the newspaper, Direccion de la Marina, was shot and seriously wounded in Havana Tuesday. Many editors who have visited that city have been half shot and recovered.

A letter from our daughter, Catherine, in Washington, tell us she can hardly wait for Mother and Mary to arrive, that she has much entertainment in store for them, that Joe Tumulty, owner of the "Altamont" hotel, has placed the recreation room at her disposal and thirty guests have been invited to meet Mother and Mary. What do you think of that? And out here poor Old Dad is being watched by neighbors for fear something will happen because some woman stops by to look at the fish pond or see how the flowers are blooming. Anyway, we are waiting all hot and bothered for the Fan Dancer to make a personal appearance at the Malone Theatre, when we'll do a little entertaining, too.

The 110-page Progress Edition of the Poplar Bluff American Republic, issued Thursday morning, was, perhaps, the largest edition ever issued by any office in a city the size of Poplar Bluff in the Central West. It was full of advertisements, interesting reading, and a credit to the publisher and his entire force from top to bottom. It was likewise, a credit to all Southeast Missouri.

Willard Mount and Dale Dye have taken charge of the Standard Oil Filling Station at the corner of Center Street and Kingshighway and the Ancell boys have taken over the Phillips 66 station at the intersection of Highways 60 and 61. Good luck to all of them.

SMALL FIRE SOON PUT OUT

A small paper fire which started under a stove pipe became overheated at Mrs. Tom Malone's home on Gladys street was quickly extinguished with a half gallon of water at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon by members of the fire department who answered an alarm.

GIANT CELEBRATION IS PLANNED FOR AIRPORT DEDICATION JULY 3-4

Plans to make the municipal airport dedication ceremonies July 3 and 4 the most notable and memorable of any similar festival staged in Southeast Missouri are progressing daily as members of the city aeronautics board effect arrangements for the various entertainments which will be presented during those two days.

Thirty-five ships are expected here for the celebration, including one each from the Shell Petroleum Company, piloted by Jimmy Doolittle, and from the Robertson Aircraft Company of St. Louis, and probably the air fleet of the Missouri National Guard and a plane from the Phillips Petroleum concern. Charles Kratochvil will also be here again with his eight-passenger flamingo ship. These planes will participate in formation and spot flying and in stunt flying at night, and will aid in parachute jumping feats.

An attempt is being made to bring flyers here, among them Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was invited several weeks ago. Of the ones who have already accepted, Jimmy Doolittle has probably the most enviable career. After the World War, during which he was an army flying instructor, Doolittle became associated with the Curtiss-Wright concern. In its service he flew to all sections of the country, but it was not until he went to South America that he leaped almost overnight from obscurity to fame.

He was sent to Argentina as a representative of the Curtiss-Wright company for a test flight over the Andes mountains which was to be conducted by the government of Argentina, officials of which were attempting to decide from what manufacturer of air ships to buy planes.

The night before the flight Doolittle sustained two broken ankles, when he fell from a second story window of a Buenos Aires hotel. Contrary to general supposition, he had himself transported to the airport in a cot the following morning and got in his plane to compete with representatives of numerous rival companies. In his Curtiss-Wright ship, Doolittle rose with other flyers, but he alone successfully crossed the Andes to win a contract for his company.

The band of the 140th Infantry of the National Guard will be here under the direction of Lieut. O. T. Honey, formerly of Matthews and now a resident of Chaffee, and will probably play at a mammoth style show the night of July 4, which, according to present plans, will be sponsored by Sikeston merchants and will have at least twelve models who will parade on a platform and on runways constructed in the field's midway.

Members of the aeronautics board have definitely decided, too, to bring a carnival here in time for the beginning of the celebration on July 3. The one contracted with, they state, will not be an ordinary show but will be exceedingly large, possessing all conceivable kinds of entertainment devices. Efforts are now being made to secure the Dodson carnival which last year exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago and has previously shown in Memphis, Tennessee.

All events at the festival will be announced over a field broadcast system to be erected at the airport, and food and drink concessions will be set up so that guests at the dedication ceremonies may have plenty to eat. It is probable, too, that there will be fireworks displays at night.

With the painting of the name Sikeston in letters fifteen feet high and of arrows pointing north and toward the field on the roof of the Lair Furniture Company building, the erecting of a wind cone, and the final grading in the northwest corner of the field, the airport has been completed and is now ready to accommodate visiting pilots and spectators.

Members of the aeronautics board have issued an invitation to owners of any private or commercial airplanes to bring their ships here for the two days, July 3 and 4, and state that no passenger fees will be charged to operators. They also urge all residents of Southeast Missouri to attend.

Men on the board, who are arranging details for the air meet, are Leonard McMullin and Hubert Boyer, the securing of planes and arrangement of stunt flying; Earl Johnson, concessions and field supervision; Clay A. Mitchell, ticket sale; J. Ernest Harper, advertising.

State Tax Group to Convene Here Friday

Members of the State tax commission, Roy McKittick, the attorney-general, or his representative, the county assessor, clerk, prosecuting attorney, and members of the County Court will meet in Sikeston today to discuss plans for making the provisions of the Jones law operative in Southeast Missouri.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Langdon Jones of Dunklin County, is intended to relieve property owners in levee and drainage districts of double taxation and provides that the value of the land in the improvement districts shall be relieved of that portion of the assessed valuation represented in the unpaid improvement taxes. The assessment shall not be less, however, than the value of the land without the improvements for which the special improvement tax is assessed.

According to members of the tax commission, "The responsibility under this act rests chiefly with the county assessor and county clerk and this meeting is being held for the purpose of formulating a working agreement between the local and State authorities.

All persons interested in the Jones Law may attend this session. Similar meetings have already been held in Hannibal and Chillicothe.

Miss Shirley Shainberg Sings With Dance Band

Shirley Shainberg, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Shainberg, gave such a pleasing performance when she sang popular songs with Jack Himmelberger's Cape Girardeau orchestra at the high school dance which was staged after the commencement exercises Monday evening that she was invited to sing again with the band when it played at a dance following the Cape Girardeau Teachers' College graduation on Thursday night.

Tuesday she received a long distance call from Himmelberger in Cape Girardeau asking her to appear with the orchestra, and Thursday she went to the city. Shirley, who possesses an outstanding blues voice, has sung ever since she was very young, although she has never taken lessons. She has appeared often in public, at Lions club meetings here and in recitals in Memphis, where she formerly lived with her parents.

SHANKLAND GROUP TO PRESENT NEW PLAYS

The Shankland Stock Company, well-known here, returns to Sikeston this year for a week, beginning Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It will be located on the John A. Matthews lot, where North Ranney street meets Greer avenue.

The company boasts a new waterproof tent and a change of play, vaudeville and music every night. The opening performance will feature, "Oh, What a Night".

Playing under the auspices of the International Athletic Association, old and new members of the cast, will appear in parts said to be admirably suited to them.

Lane Shankland, who chose the plays, will portray numerous diversified characters, and Miss

A MORON PROWL

A young woman who works in a department store here returned Friday evening to the house where she rooms and went into the bathroom to bathe.

While she was in the tub she chanced to look at a small window, which is situated high in the wall and is some distance from the ground outside the house. There she saw the face of a man, peering in through the glass. When she screamed however, it disappeared.

During an investigation her landlord discovered, placed near the window, a box set in a wheelbarrow, which belonged to a neighbor. On this improvised pedestal the man was evidently indulging in perverted pleasure.

RAINBOW SHADOW BOX LIGHTING NEW FEATURE ON THE "PRESIDENT"

The big ballroom lighting of the new Strekfus Steamer "President" has excited more interest and comment than almost any other feature on this many-featured boat. At St. Louis, at New Orleans, and at every river town between where the President stopped last fall, crowds were held spell bound at the varied and beautiful lighting effects created by the unique shadow-box.

"It's just like dancing in a rainbow," is the way one girl described it, as the rich blues, warm reds, brilliant yellows and soft greens faded into one another—a different combination of lights for every dance. So flexible is this system that it provides for more than light, beautiful and varied lighting effects.

Psychologists say that light and color affect our moods as well as sound. If this is true, then the dancers are assured of a wonderful evening when the S. S. President stops at Cape Girardeau for a Starlight Outing on Thursday, May 31, for the lighting music of Fate Marable and his famous "Cotton Pickers" will add its charm to the magic of the rainbow shadow-box ballroom lighting.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR COUNTY CANNING

Jefferson City, May 21.—A survey of the state is being made to determine what local equipment and supervision is available for county food canning centers. The centers will be operated by the State Garden Program to can the produce from home and community "relief" gardens. County garden supervisors, at a series of district meetings, have been instructed to report to the state office, suitable buildings, canning machinery, and persons capable of supervising conservations centers in their counties.

While the State Garden Program will furnish cans for the project it is the intention of state relief officials to utilize available equipment and personnel in the canning centers where possible. The goal of the project is five million cans of vegetables for winter relief, in addition to large stores of potatoes, turnips, sweet potatoes, cabbage, onions and dried beans, which are being grown on 30,000 acres of community gardens.

All work in the canning centers will be done by persons on relief, on a work relief basis, and home gardeners taking produce to be canned will be required to do their own canning, and to assist in other work about the center.

DUSTING POWDER FOR POTATO BUGS

Jefferson City, May 21.—An emergency shipment of 36,000 pounds of insecticide has been ordered to check the early, dry-weather attack of Colorado potato beetles that threaten more than 12,000 acres of potatoes planted in Missouri "relief" gardens.

Enough dusting powder has been sent each county to control the present plague of chewing insects in the home and community gardens. The State Garden Program is fostering 75,000 home gardens, and 3,000 acres of community gardens, located throughout the state. The insecticide is already mixed calcium arsenate with lime, of sufficient strength to give complete control. Home gardeners, on application to their county supervisors, will be given a pound of insecticide, with directions for using it. Additional dusting powder will be furnished each county for its gardens as needed.

More than 125 machine type dusts have been purchased by the State Garden Program for dusting the large-acreage tracts in the community gardens.

—Standard carries over seventy per cent of local advertising.

MOUNTED POLICE BRING STAGE ACT

They always get their man—these Royal Northwest Mounted Police—but when they come to the Malone Theatre Sunday they'll be out on a different mission.

The police are said to be the only performers of their kind ever seen in the United States and are credited with creating favorable comment wherever they appear. Their show combines education and entertainment numbers. The performance is said to be a happy blending of mirth, melody and music. One of the numbers in the act is the showing of many slides on the screen picturing some of Alaska's and Canada's early history, bad men, and famous characters of the Sourdough country.

GRABER'S STORE SHOE DEPARTMENT IMPROVED

The shoe department at Graber's department store has been changed this week. The space devoted to that part of the firm's stock has been enlarged to provide additional room for customers, new leather-covered, stuffed seats have been installed, and a large shipment of shoes, the majority of them white, and all of them in modern styles in sizes from triple A to D, has been received.

CHEVROLET SHIPMENTS FROM FACTORY INCREASE

The Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company here is now receiving shipments of automobiles and is able again to make immediate deliveries. For a time, demand throughout the country exceeded production and shipments to Sikeston were irregular and insufficient to supply the firm's customers.

NEW MADRID RESIDENTS WILL DRINK IN PUBLIC

New Madrid citizens approved the sale of liquor by the drink Tuesday by a vote of 454 to 58. The One saloon has already opened, according to reports, and proprietors of stores will soon make provision to handle liquor, it is thought. New Madrid is the fourth Southeast Missouri town to join the sale-by-drink ranks. The others are Farnell, Caruthersville, and Steele. Campbell and Poplar Bluff residents rejected the proposition.

BLUE RHYTHM BOYS TO PLAY AT DANCE TONIGHT

A dance for the benefit of V. L. Kirby's municipal baseball league team will be given tonight (Friday) in the Armory here, beginning at 9 o'clock. The Blue Rhythm Boys, a well-known orchestra, will play at the dance. The admission price will be 40c.

NEGRO BASEBALL TEAMS TO PLAY

A two-game baseball series will be played here Saturday and Sunday afternoons between negro teams from Sikeston and Memphis.

LAW PROTECTS MARTINS

In a warning to boys who have been shooting at martins recently, bird-lovers state that the martins are migratory birds, protected from destruction by law. Persons caught shooting them may be prosecuted, they say.

MORLEY COUPLE

Harley Stubblefield and Miss Gracie Brown, both of Morley, were married last Saturday afternoon at the local Nazarene Parsonage, Rev. C. F. Transue officiating. Mrs. Transue acted as witness. The young couple will make their home in Morley.

FORTY-TWO SENIORS GRADUATED MONDAY

A crowd which filled the Sikeston high school auditorium witnessed the commencement exercises of the school's forty-two seniors Monday evening.

They saw the graduates, in caps and gowns, march down the center aisle to the platform, followed by members of the girls' glee club, in uniform white, red-trimmed dresses, singing the processional, "America the Beautiful". They heard Dr. W. W. Parker, the president of Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College, address them, and they listened while the glee club sang Spross' "Will o' the Wisp" and Oley Speaks' "Morning", and Charles Allen Cook, accompanied by Adagene Bowman at the piano and Danny Malone, playing a violin obligato, sang Bond's "Perfect Day".

They watched the eighth grade graduates receive their high school entrance certificates and students in all classes march up to get cash awards and medals signifying achievements.

Dr. Parker, telling the graduates that they were in the process of finishing, said they could well heed the advice of three of England's most notable nineteenth century philosophers, Matthew Arnold, Thomas Carlyle, and John Ruskin.

Arnold, he said, preached the gospel of intelligence. Present day Americans have on the whole rewarded highly only those who entertain them; contemporary philosophers, he said, advocate a pessimistic theory of futility. Arnold, on the other hand, stated that it is an obligation and necessity to be as intelligent as possible.

Carlyle preached the gospel of work, of the reaction of the worker on work, of executing the duty nearest at hand. Never procrastinate, he said. There is no future, and, added Dr. Parker, if young people cannot achieve in the "eternal now" they never will, for they will not change their mode of living no matter how often they promise to.

Ruskin preached the gospel of cultivated taste, Dr. Parker said. He fought against unnecessary ugliness and believed that the educated man is one who instinctively prefers the noble to the ignoble. There is no wealth but life, Ruskin said.

You graduates, Dr. Parker concluded, may benefit by remembering these three doctrines, of intelligence, of work, and of cultivated taste, as you leave here for employment or further schooling.

After J. W. Baker, Jr., as president of the school board, had presented the diplomas, Roy V. Ellis, superintendent of schools, Roger Bailey and Wm. E. Mahew announced separate awards for the year. A list follows:

Honor graduate, Ruth Moore; second, Adagene Bowman; third, Gwendolyn Duncan. Senior boy making the highest average: Orville Lumsden and William M. Werneck, tie; third, Harry Harby, Jr.

American Legion citizenship medals, awarded to the most outstanding, all-around senior and junior: Senior, Charles Allen Cook; junior, Mary Emma Powell. Auxiliary history prize, Adagene Bowman; trophy to the most accomplished and versatile athlete, Billy Donnell; D. A. R. prize to the eighth grade student who is most proficient in American history, Tommy Marshall; Auxiliary citizenship prize, Peggy Donnell.

Students who have completed a year of post graduate work in commercial courses, A. J. Rushing, Jr., who last year was the Charleston high school honor graduate, and Louise Wood, a graduate of the Sikeston high school.

The program ended with a recessional, "The Alma Mater", which members of the glee club and persons in the audience sang as the seniors marched from the stage.

ROSEMARY BLANTON IS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

As honor graduate in the eighth grade class at the St. Francis Xavier school here, Rosemary Blanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Blanton, has been awarded a four-year scholarship to Arcadia Academy and College, which is operated in Arcadia, Mo., by the Ursuline nuns. If she accepts the scholarship, Miss Blanton will leave for Arcadia in September.

Rain Needed In Most of State

Rain is now badly needed in about four-fifths of the State, according to Roscoe Nunn, meteorologist in his weekly report from the United States Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau in St. Louis.

Some farmers are now hauling water for livestock, especially in the east-central sections, and rainfall from April 1 to this week is 63 per cent of normal.

Crops made good progress while the moisture lasted, that is, for about five days, but came to a standstill in most sections by the end of the week. Wheat is heading pretty generally, and a critical situation exists with respect to moisture. Unless good rains come within the next few days, heads will not be well filled in most fields. However, in some parts of the northwestern quarter, where heavy rains recently fell, wheat is reported in good to excellent condition.

Oats, alfalfa, pastures, and gardens did well for a few days, but were making little if any progress at the end of the week. Oats are heading, mostly on short straw. Alfalfa is slower than usual; no reports of first cutting have been received. Chinch bugs are causing considerable damage in various sections, mostly north-central.

Corn made good progress for several days, and the condition of corn generally is good, with some very good. But it was slowing down at the end of the week on account of lack of moisture. Some corn has been cultivated the first time.

Cotton, in the lower southeastern counties, is reported in unusually good condition. Strawberries were marketed in large quantities during the week and are still bearing well in most of the district.

Semo Praised By Rockefeller Heir

J. Rockefeller Prentice, a grandson of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., sat comfortably in a chair in the Hotel Idan-Ha's lobby in Cape Girardeau last week-end. He looked about and spoke to his companions, who had come to inspect Southeast Missouri insurance firm holdings. "This is a beautiful country," he said. "It's good to be here and see the green trees, meadows, and so many flowers and enjoy the pure atmosphere. I feel great. And I'm glad to get out of Chicago and see something besides pavement and walls of tall buildings."

After calling Jack Ahlsted, the Idan-Ha hotel chef, the 31-year-old capitalist ordered extra quality steaks for a party of ten, who were served dinner in the hotel's private dining room. When he had finished the meal, Prentice seemed well-pleased. "Those were the best steaks I have had in a long time," he said. "These Missouri towns can show just as efficient hospitality as the larger cities."

Prentice, a hard worker, supported himself while he was attending college, at one time carrying for a telephone switchboard.

He is still industrious, according to his friends, who say he often remains up late to tend to business matters.

SHOOTS SELF ACCIDENTALLY

V. T. Craig, 35 years old, of Malden, was treated here early Thursday morning for a bullet wound above the elbow of his right arm.

Craig stated that he shot accidentally himself with his 32-20 pistol when he returned to his automobile after fishing in a place three miles west of Matthews. Becoming unconscious from the bullet which penetrated through the flesh of his arm, he lay until 1 o'clock Thursday morning, when he rose and walked to a farm house nearby. A young woman, he said, brought him here and he sat in a cafe until a physician arrived to treat him.

At 5 o'clock Thursday morning, his brother, L. C. Craig, and his wife came here to drive him back to Malden.

LEM HAMBY

Funeral services for Lem Hamby, 50-year-old shipping clerk for the Miles Packing Company of Cape Girardeau, who died after an heart attack at his home Monday morning, were conducted at 10:00 o'clock Wednesday morning at the First Baptist church in Cape Girardeau by the Rev. E. D. Owen, pastor of the church. Burial was in the City Cemetery here.

Mr. Hamby was born September 13, 1883, in Marion, Ky., where he spent his early life and was married in 1905 to Miss Nellie Tabor, who survives him. Three years later he moved with his family to Blodgett, where he lived for seventeen years before moving for a short time to Crowder and then, in 1927, to Cape Girardeau.

Besides his wife, Mr. Hamby survived by eight children, Mrs. Duree Nolan, Tom, Marvin, Lem, Jr., George, Jerry and Lois Hamby, all of Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Nathan Frederick, St. Louis; three brothers, Pratt and Vai Hamby, both of Vanduser, and Lacy Hamby, Princeton, Ky.; a sister, Mrs. Nannie Morris, also of Princeton; a father, W. L. Hamby, Vanduser; and a grandson, Jackie Nolan, Cape Girardeau.

KEWANEE CHILD BURIED SATURDAY

Funeral services were held last Saturday morning, 11 o'clock, at the General Baptist church near Kewanee for Morva Lee Beardsley, aged about two years, who died at her home Friday of heart trouble and other complications. Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the local Nazarene Church, officiated with burial in the family cemetery near that place.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLSTON WOMAN FRI

Funeral services were held last Friday afternoon at the Fisk General Baptist church for Mrs. Iva Cullin, 21, of Charleston, who died at her home last Thursday of tuberculosis. Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the local Nazarene church, conducted the services, and burial was in the Ash Hill Cemetery near Fisk.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Cullin is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brothers, also of Charleston.

SISTER DIES IN INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adams left here Monday evening for Seymour, Ind., to attend funeral services for Mrs. Adams' younger sister, who died in a Columbus, Ind., hospital after an appendectomy operation. Mr. Adams will return the last of this week, but it is probable that Mrs. Adams will remain indefinitely in Seymour with her aged mother, who is alone now that her younger daughter has died.

CHARLES MARGRAVE

Funeral services for Charles Margrave, who died of cancer at his farm home, two miles east of Chaffee, Tuesday, were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Chaffee. The Rev. W. W. Walker, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Margrave, who was 77 years old at the time of his death, was born near Gordonville. In 1881 he was married to Miss May Deiters, who survives him. With his family he has at different times lived in Keosauqua, Morley, Fortageville, and near Chaffee.

Besides his wife, Margrave is survived by six children, Henry, Everett, and Robert Margrave, all of Chaffee and W. H. and Herman Margrave and Mrs. Henry Brunke, all of Cape Girardeau; seventeen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

BOXERS TO MEET IN CAPE

Thirty-two rounds of boxing will be featured on a fight card in Cape Girardeau which is scheduled for Monday night.

The main bout of eight rounds will be fought by Jackie Don Burton of Blytheville, Ark., and Billy Caldwell of McClure, Ill. There will also be three four-round bouts.

Lawyer Darrow and NRA Johnson are having a bit of fun for and against the NRA. Darrow may be right in a way and Johnson may be right in another way. At least Johnson is trying to uphold the President in his efforts to help the man at the bottom of the ladder. There is no doubt but what the NRA has handicapped small business concerns, at the same time if each of us will do our part and pull together we may better conditions all down the line. The President's ideas have given labor a lot of employment that has kept many from actual starvation.

Young women of Dunklin County, puzzled about what men prefer, will probably be interested in the views of 150 men students at the University of Chicago. A plump brunette, "with Mae West curves" was the favorite. Other attributes and accessories that scored with the males were: clinging clothes, small hats, smart carriage, perfume delicately used, bright colored dresses for day and present skirt lengths. The undesirable, as listed, included tailored mannish suits, galoshes, white stockings, eye shadow, bright nail polish, excessive make-up and gaudy jewelry.—Kennett Democrat.

The editor and publisher is very much embarrassed to find the program that was given by Mrs. Ralph Anderson's music pupils was buried under other copy and the new inotype operator failed to get it into type. The fact was not discovered until part of the edition had been run. Likewise, half of the edition had been printed before it was discovered a signature had been omitted from the Dobbs hat advertisement. These things are regrettable as well as costly.

The LaPlata Home Press wishes someone to write something on "yes-men". In politics or on city councils we have heard it said there were "yes-men" who voted "yes" on any subject that came up for action all because the "boss" voted that way. At home every married man is a "yes-man" if he has a happy home.

No newspaper is worth two hoots in a barnyard that never stoops on anyone's toes.

An American boy will quit the farm to keep from getting up at 5 a. m. After he goes in business in the city he gets up at 4 a. m. to play golf.

From a southern Sate comes the sad tale of an NRA enthusiast who took an extra wife and received a summons instead of a Blue Eagle.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

The broad, general rule is that a man is about as big as the things that make him mad.

You can live cheaper but not happier when your wife's reducing.

In spite of the disparity between the smallest and the largest of American newspapers, the publisher of the small country weekly need not be overawed by the size of his metropolitan rival. The local newspaper has a place in the life of its community which the great dailies cannot usurp if the local publisher is alive to his opportunities and makes the most of them. Now, as always, the hometown newspaper is the best and cleanest exponent of constructive journalism.

No doubt most of us would vote a pleasing address if it was delivered in ten minutes, but the great trouble is the speakers all appear to think the audience is enjoying it as much as the speaker, which, of course, it not true.

Judge Charles A. Leedy and daughter, Miss Polly, of Kansas City, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart the first of this week. The Standard editor acknowledges an enjoyable social call from the Judge while here.

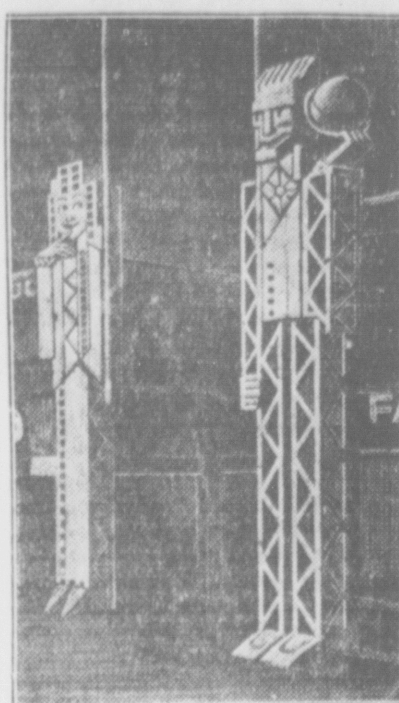

We had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Parker, president of the Cape Teachers' College, at the Auditorium Monday evening and was delighted at his democratic demeanor. He has the appearance of being a real man with a personality that will attract and hold those with whom he contacts. With Dr. Parker at the head of this institution we see no reason whatever for any pupil to go elsewhere for an education.

Hon. John J. Cochran, St. Louis Congressman, has entered the Senatorial race on the Democratic ticket to succeed Roscoe Patterson, Republican of Springfield. This gives three avowed candidates on the Democratic ticket. From Washington City comes word that Speaker Meredith, of Poplar Bluff, will withdraw from the race. That being the case, we shall vote for Tuck Milligan, of Richmond, Mo., who, we believe, will make the strongest voice-getter at the polls in the Fall election. However, we shall be for the nominee whoever he shall be.

SOME SCOTT COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Supervisors for measuring up land for the wheat contracts in Scott County will start work next Monday. The supervisors will call at the farms, measure up the land which is being taken out of production and being idle and also measure all the fields sown to wheat. The government requires that the land which is left idle must be staked, in order that the supervisors may measure it properly. Every contract signer should see to it that it will be easy for the inspector to locate his fields. As far as possible, notice will be sent in advance when inspectors will arrive, but this is impossible in most cases, as it is hard to make out the schedule. Also a certificate of compliance must be signed by each and every producer and this Compliance Certificate be handed to the supervisor at the time they measure up the land.

Although the supervisors will take measurements on the various fields, the acreage of the field is not calculated by these men, but they merely write the measurements on a card and calculations are made in the office of the secretary later.

The measuring device which is used, consists of a bicycle wheel set in a frame and the revolutions the wheel makes is recorded. These wheels are calibrated and from the number of revolutions the wheel makes in going across the field, it is easy to estimate the distance. These wheels are used under most all conditions, exceptions being made where a wheel will not make a true measurement.

HOLDUP AT GAS STATION

Victims Lured by Bargain Price

Low Gravity Gas Robs You of Money Steals Performance from Your Motor

This holdup is the unseen drama which may take place every time a motorist buys gas at a cut-price pump.

Some day, of course, he will know better! Like millions of experienced drivers, he will learn the money-saving benefits of Phillips 66... the bonest high test gasoline which sells at the price of regular.

You know what a difference high test makes in a motor. But do you know that Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline? Do you realize that only Phillips consistently publishes its gravity (or high test) figures? Month by month, we show how this gravity range changes as we match Phillips 66 to the variations in your weather. Thus the Phillips process of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY protects and insures finer performance.

You get more power and more miles. Better miles, too. Smoother, swifter, quieter. And your engine is so responsive and flexible that there is added pleasure in motoring.

But five gallons tell more than five thousand words. Hence we make this worth while suggestion: Before you buy your next tankful of gas at just any station which you happen to pass, look for the Orange and Black 66 shield. That's the place to Phill-up with Phillips.

This method has proven very accurate and has been used by commercial concerns in the past. County Agent Furry and Assistant Agent Broom have been the past week getting these measuring devices ready for the inspectors.

The Corn-Hog Contracts for Scott County are still in the hands of the State Board of Review and it is hoped that they will soon be back to the County Agent sometime in the near future along with the Allotment which the County will receive, in order that the allotment may make final plans for the Corn-Hog Contract signers. For some unexplainable reason there has been much more delay in getting the contracts back to the county agent.

County Agent Furry states that they will make as rapid time as possible in the county as soon as the State Board of Review gets the allotments.

Typists have been busy in the office ever since the data was sent to Columbia and now have all the contracts typewritten as required. This has been a tremendous job in that, twenty-five contracts was all that one typist could copy in a day and it has taken considerable time to type out the 813 contracts.

Some rumors have been started, stating that due to the fact that they had not heard from the contractors that the program had been dropped. This is not true. The contracts are going ahead as planned, with the exception that the process is being slower than was first announced.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT EXPERIMENT STATION

The second annual field day at the Agricultural Experiment Station, four miles north of Sikeston will be held Friday, June 15th at 1:30 p. m. At this time, Prof. H. H. Krusekopf and Prof. B. M. King and others from the College of Agriculture will be present and give results of the experimental work to date, also other interesting features of the station.

Results of wheat varieties, oat varieties, barley varieties, hybrid corn, fertilizer on grains and legumes, liming and new legumes for Southeast Missouri will be discussed.

All farmers in Southeast Missouri should plan to attend this meeting.

SPOT IN ANDES MOUNTAINS COLDER THAN SOUTH POLE

Washington, May 21.—The "south pole of cold" is not in the Antarctic, but hundreds of miles nearer the equator in the Andes Mountains of South America.

It is the second most frigid spot on earth, with temperatures often as low as 70 below zero, comparable to the "north pole of cold" in Northern Siberia, says Director Navarette of the Chilean Weather Bureau in a report to the Monthly Weather Review of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

This cold spot is a region about 80 miles wide, in the Andes Mountains of Northern Patagonia, along the Chilean-Argentine frontier. It is a place of deep valleys with high mountain walls, an ideal repository for the chilled air from the Antarctic that settles into it from higher levels.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 pounds until taking one box of Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment!"

Fat folks should take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get: Kruschen at White's or Galloway's or any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts four weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.—1.

DECEASED VETERANS' NAMES BEING SOUGHT

The names of all St. Louis World War veterans who died during the past year and of those whose graves were not decorated on Memorial Day in 1933, are being sought by members of the American Legion, according to Robt. J. Callahan, mortuary chairman of the St. Louis Commander's Conference.

On the graves of all World War veterans American Legion Post members, each group assigned to separate cemeteries, will place American flags and the Legion insignias. At the entrance of cemeteries in which three or more veterans are buried, women of the Legion auxiliaries will set wreaths and at those with less than three veterans, sprays of poppies.

Because burial records of dead veterans are incomplete, Callahan is issuing an appeal for necessary information so that no soldier's grave will be neglected. He may be reached at the Tile Guaranty Building in St. Louis.

“Pork Chops Become a Company Dish”
By Caroline E. King
Home Economics and Culinary Authority
PORK chops have stepped up wonderfully within the past few years. And why not? A more savory, tender, delicate dish than a well browned, tastily seasoned, temptingly served pork chop with its accompanying rich hued gravy and correct garnish, it would indeed be difficult to imagine.
Garnish! There lies the secret. Rapidly we are learning that a fruit garnish adds to both the eye and appetite appeal of all kinds of meats—not to mention the fact that it provides an excellent means of including a greater variety of healthful fruits on our menus. To no meat dish is the fruit garnish a more welcome addition than to pork chops, and, to my way of thinking, no pork chops can quite equal:
Pork Chops with Cinnamon Apples. For this dish one selects plump, thick rib chops. Trim them neatly, dust with flour and brown them carefully in their own fat. This may be done either in a skillet over the fire or in the oven. Pork requires slow-cooking; so it will be well to keep the heat moderate. Season with pepper, salt and paprika, while cooking and add a very little water to the pan after the meat has become browned.
Meanwhile pare large, tart, firm-fleshed apples, remove the cores, slice thickly crosswise, and drop into lemon flavored water to keep from darkening, while making a syrup in the proportion of 1 cup granulated sugar to ¼ cup of water. After five minutes cooking add a tablespoon of red cinnamon candies or drops, and simmer until the syrup is quite rosy. Now wipe the apple rings and drop them a few at a time into the syrup to cook very slowly. When tender and quite red lift them out.
In the center of each apple ring place a stuffed olive, or a bit of parsley.
When the chops are finished, top each one with a ring of apple, serve on a warm platter and garnish with cress or parsley. Gravy for this dish is especially piquant if to the liquid in the pan in which the chops were cooked is added the remainder of the syrup from the apples, with a little more water as required, and a tablespoon of sharp vinegar. Thicken slightly with a tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste with a very little water. Cook till clear, add seasoning if necessary then strain into a sauceboat.

“We’re a few of the 18 Million who own old cars—those extra firing charges save us money!”

UP TO 6900 MORE “FIRING CHARGES” IN EVERY GALLON GIVE YOU MORE MILEAGE

MILLIONS are enjoying extra power— instant starts—and mileage—plus—from the thousands more firing charges in every gallon of improved Super Shell.

Old car owners, especially, have written in to say they get more power—and from one to two miles more per gallon.

For Super Shell is now “super-charged.” Shell engineers have actually developed a way to “re-make” the chemical structure of gasoline and to pack up to 6900 extra firing charges in every gallon.

No matter what car you drive, buy Super Shell! Those additional firing charges will give you quicker get-away in traffic and extra power on hills. And you’ll save money through more miles per gallon!

Rev. Garrison, pastor, who is conducting a revival meeting at Poplar Bluff, visited homefolks here, Wednesday. He stated that the meeting was starting off good, and he was being assisted by Mark Short and wife and the three little shorts. Rev. PAGEANT REPEATED IN POPLAR BLUFF

The Challenge of the Cross, which was presented at the First Baptist church here on Easter, will be repeated Friday night, June 1, in a tabernacle in Poplar Bluff, where Rev. Leslie Garrison, pastor of the Sikeston Baptist Church, is conducting a revival.

The pageant will replace a regular song service and will be followed by a sermon delivered by Rev. Mr. Garrison. Members of a sextet from here will sing "Take Up Thy Cross" as a complement to the pageant.

The following young women are in the pageant cast: Vernetta Smith, Lela Stacy, Freda Lankford, Marguerite Bryant, Lillian Limbaugh, Neva Mae Taylor and Aileen Garrison.

Those singing in the sextet are Vernetta Smith, Virginia Martin, Thelma Lee, Mrs. Gladys Higgins and Grace and Ella Lee Evans.

Rev. O. K. Posey, of Malden, will preach at the Christian church

in Matthews Sunday night. The public is invited.

On their way to work Saturday morning the people of Sikeston will be offered little red poppies to wear in memory of the World War dead. They will also be offered an opportunity to contribute to the welfare of the war's living victims. All day Saturday members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will be on the streets with poppies and will receive contributions in exchange for the memorial flowers.

The custom of wearing poppies in memory of the war dead is fifteen years old this year, and is generally observed throughout the English speaking world. In the United States the women of the American Legion Auxiliary have developed it into a great national program for commemorating the services of those who died and for bringing aid to those who sacrificed health and strength in the nation's service.

Nearly ten million Americans wear the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary poppy each year on "Poppy Day", the Saturday before Memorial Day, and contribute nearly one million dollars for the relief of the war disabled, the widows and fatherless children. All of the poppies are made by disabled veterans, as the label on each poppy shows.

Early in the winter the making of the poppies which will be worn the following May, begins in the government hospitals and in special work rooms maintained by the Auxiliary throughout the country. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, are given employment shaping the little paper flowers. Discouraged men whose spirits have sunk to despair from months and years of unemployment are given the reviving experience of again earning money.

A penny each is paid for the making of the poppy. A veteran, if he is not too badly disabled, can easily turn out 300 of the flowers in a short working day. This is usually the maximum number the disabled men are permitted to make in a day to prevent them from overtaxing their strength. This is an earning of three dollars a day.

For men who have lain in hospitals for months feeling that they were useless incumbrances on the earth, three one-dollar bills actually earned are worth a fortune.

For the families of these men—the poppy makers are all men who receive little or no government compensation—the money earned often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter. For the men without families the poppy earnings provide a 'stake' for the day when they must go out and attempt to re-establish themselves in life against the handicap of their disabilities.

Veterans too badly disabled to make complete flowers sometimes form what they call "Poppy Corporations". Several of them work together on the same flower, each can do and passing the flower on to the others to be completed. Even blind veterans can take part in the work under this arrangement.

Manufacturing the poppies involves large problems of financing, management and distribution for the Auxiliary women directing the project. This year wages paid to the disabled veterans will total nearly $100,000. Employment has been given to many hundreds in 58 different hospitals and work-rooms in 40 States.

The funds derived from the poppies are used by the Auxiliary and the American Legion in giving aid to disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead. When no other aid is available, Groceries for the family of a veteran too sick to work—shoes for the children of a veteran lying ill in a distant government hospital—a loan to a convalescent veteran struggling to get back on his feet—these are typical of the purposes for which the poppy contributions are used. The money is expended largely in the community in which it is raised.

The wearing of the poppy draws its wide appeal from its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living. Every red flower worn on "Poppy Day" means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies in France, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men, women and children who are still fighting the long battle against physical and financial handicaps resulting from war service.

Learns Share Cropper Suffers Most Under Cotton Reduction Plan

Most people think that the share cropper is in worse condition now, while he is working under the recovery program, than during the most lamentable year of the depression. Arthur Evans, a correspondent for the Chicago Tribune who recently spent two days in Sikeston and surrounding communities, learned.

The cotton worker is regarded as bearing the heaviest load under the acreage reduction plan of the AAA and the Bankhead law, he found. In many instances pressure is driving him and his family from the land into cities such as Cape Girardeau and St. Louis.

"Here in Sikeston," Mr. Evans writes, "tenant farmers and landowners in general hold that the cotton control project of the New Deal is working havoc with the croppers. Where the NRA, by reducing hours, seeks to make jobs for more workers the AAA, by reducing acreage, is reducing jobs for workers, and the farmers here hold that the Washington rain trust is thus traveling in opposite directions".

To explain conditions which he discovered Evans noted the case of C. F. Coleman. Of the 681 acres on the Coleman farm, located in Stoddard County, 367 are in cultivation. An average of 363 acres was planted in cotton in the base period of the acreage reduction plan. The yield was 234 bales in 1931 and 225 in 1932.

Under the Bankhead plan this farm's production was cut to 100 bales, a 56 per cent reduction. A second cut was made to 60 bales.

The government will pay $7.35 an acre rent on 97 acres of the Coleman farm, a price determined at the rate of 3 1/2 cents a pound on a yield of 210 pounds to the acre, although Mr. Coleman's records show the yield was 355 pounds during the base period.

Mr. Coleman is quoted as saying, "The cotton acreage on this farm was reduced from 323 acres, the base period average, to 145 acres, to produce 60 bales of tax exempt cotton. Rent is to be paid for 97 acres, making a total of 242 acres. Then we knock off for lack 81 acres, which is not to be put into cotton and on which no rent is to be paid. So our actual reduction in cotton acreage is 178 acres from the old 323 acres, for which the farm will receive $712 in rental payment".

There are sixty-seven persons in eleven share cropper families on the Coleman farm. Because the government insists that landlords maintain the same number of tenants they had on their families in 1933 and because the families are still living on the farm and must be cared for, they will be retained and the reduced cotton acreage divided among them.

Evans writes: "In 1931 seven share cropper families had a return of $2627.26 or $375.30 per family. Out of this had to come the expense of extra cotton picking labor. In 1932, ten families on the same farm made $3019.52, an average of $301.95 per family. In 1934, eleven families on the farm, it is estimated, will make $1750, or an average of $159.10 per family.

Evans interviewed E. L. Limbaugh, who has been a tenant farmer manager near here for thirty years and now had a 339 acre farm. Of this 250 acres were in cotton last year.

"My average cotton planting was 200 acres during the base period," Mr. Limbaugh is quoted as saying. "I was entitled to 114 acres under the reduction plan, but they slashed me far below this."

"I have 35 people to feed, and if I had signed, the share croppers would be cut out of work. So I told the AAA to go to hell. Now, I've planted double the cotton allotment they wanted to give me. I'll pay the 6 cents a pound tax, and I'd rather do that than go in to the government deal, after they butchered me".

Mr. Limbaugh's attitude is said to be typical.

The local Baptist church was filled to capacity Sunday night with music lovers gathered to enjoy the sacred music concert given at the evening hour, with members of the local church participating. A male quartet from Herrin, Ill., was scheduled to take part on the program, but on the account of the serious illness of a relative of one of the young men, they were unable to appear.

Following is the program rendered:

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS FROM PARIS APPEAL

A prominent churchman deploras the fact that the Man in the Street is not interested in religion. And this may be because religion, or those who profess it, are not interested in the Man in the Street.

Missourians are beginning to eat out of their gardens. Lettuce and radishes are on every table. Peas, potatoes and beans will soon be in season. Strawberry shortcake is just around the corner. The job of being a pessimist gets harder every day.

The sacred constitution guarantees to every individual the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Without a reasonable amount of food and fuel life would be impossible and there would be no use for either liberty or the pursuit of happiness. Thus, if the constitution guarantees the right to live, the Government should make it possible to live when there are no jobs from which to earn a living. We have too many well-to-do people in this country who would rather see unfortunate people starve than to have them kept going with public funds.

We recently asked Dr. Bildad Bots, our famous research expert, why so many women continue to read the sort of books and newspaper articles which they denounce as indecent. He said it was because they liked that sort best. We asked one squawking sister if she thought there was a law to compel her to read everything that was written by an author she so vigorously condemned, and this was her reply: "No; but I just want to see how far he will go". She was not fooling anybody, least of all herself. She just liked that sort of literature.

James A. Reed has just as much right as any other citizens to run for the United States Senate. In view of his past record of service to the Republican party and his present sympathy with its leaders in their hostility to the Roosevelt administration, he should not have the effrontery to run as a Democrat. As in 1920, his heart is in the Republican camp. If he gets into the political arena again, he will be the idol of the Anti-Roosevelt interests in this country, as he was of the Anti-Wilson element in 1920. Reed should run as a Republican of the Eastern type; if he runs at all.

Things continue to go by contraries. For instance, those who object to the limitation of crops on the ground that a better system of distribution should be adopted for the surplus now on hand are very much opposed to applying their own idea to the money supply. And yet, as with food, there is more money than ever before; and, as with food, those who need it most find it most difficult to get. No wonder there is such a growing sentiment for a redistribution of both food and wealth if the Roosevelt policies are made to fail by the few who seem too stupid to realize the power of the many!

What those defaulting nations should do is to offer to settle their accounts with Uncle Sam on the same terms he exacted when the debts were contracted. We force them to spend every dollar of the money for American goods. They should require us to take goods in payment. This would put an end to the demand for settlement, for our industrial interests would rather give receipts bills to England, France and Italy than to have their goods on sale in America. We not only required that the foreigners spend their entire loans for foodstuffs, munitions and machinery, we had for sale but robbed them of their eyeteeth by the prices we charged. This, too, when they were holding the line in France until we could get ready to fight. For every penny we collect on those alleged debts we lose a dollar in good will and trade.

THE ——— GRAFTER

By Art L. Wallhausen

When I'm elected President of these United States and island possessions I intend to put into practice a few of the ideas now in process of formation—or fomentation.

One of them is in relation to that great year 'round indoor sport generally termed "hit the merchants." If a club drive is short, "hit the merchants." If the church needs new paint or a new door "hit the merchants." If anything, The answer is always and eternally the same, here in Poplar Bluff, in Cape Girardeau, in Dexter, Siketon, Centerville, or Podunk—hit the bloomin' merchants. That is the unfailing source of nickels and dimes and dollars. It is the Mecca and the manna. It is the unvarying answer to that great American question, "Where to get the money?"

Hit the poor old merchants! It is a gold claim that is being panned, washed, picked, sifted, prospected, and mined to death. And there are folks now sitting up nights trying to figure out some new means of doing the same old thing in a slightly different way. But always it amounts to the old, old sing-song:

Hit the merchants,
 Hit 'em often,
 Hit the merchants,
 High or low—
 But hit 'em!

This one is fondling a scrap of paper so thumb-marked and so worn and frazzled that the plea to help a "pore old sailor" buy a cork leg is almost illegible. In order to avoid contracting leprosy or worse the long-suffering merchant digs down and shells out a dime or a quarter. Another with a besmeared booklet pleads "Help reshingle the church. We're calling on our business friends to help us out." And instead of helping the said gentleman bodily OUT, the harassed merchant buys a shingle, or a dab of paint. Not once but a hundred times in the course of a year.

Another is trying to help a crippled brother get into a sanatorium or out of jail. Another group of ladies is soliciting for a school curtain; for a church program; for a club benefit; for a class dinner; for yarn to help the Ladies' Missionary Society dedicated to the worthy cause of knitting girdles and neckties for the naked heathen. This one would like to have "just a dollar" to retire a pig note; to save the family homestead; to pay a hospital bill; to pave a street; to help the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Unemployed Nut and Bolt Makers, or the Associated Goldfish Feeders Union.

Every hour of every business day they come in unending streams. No retreat is secure. No merchant or business man is immune. They search him out, they pour it on, they take away his 50-cent piece, his quarter dollar, his dollar or his five-spot. Each day brings a new crop of bereft, lame, halt, blind, crippled, needy, unfortunate and indiscreet.

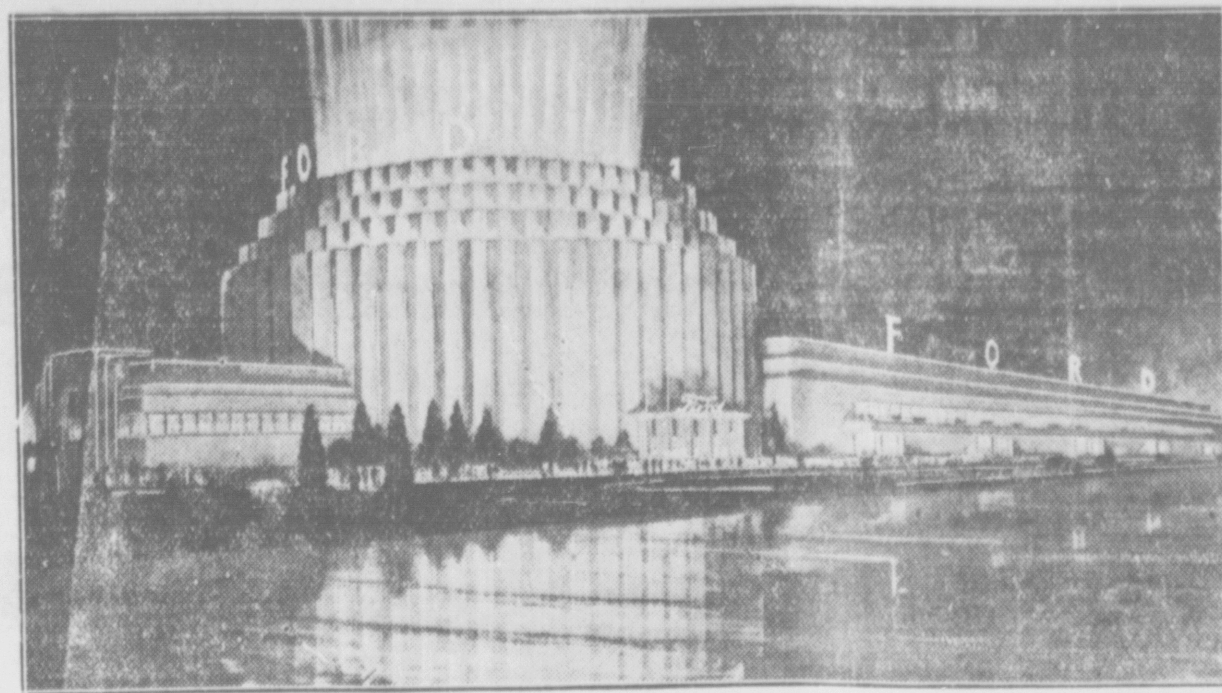

Honestly the long-suffering merchants are at the end of the hope. They donate to this and to that, year in and year out, and when a really worthwhile community party is staged they just do not know which way to squirm or turn. The two or three really big events in any community should be supported by public subscription, and very, very few merchants, business or professional men and public-spirited citizens like to refuse. They actually want to help, but by the time they have bought stage curtains for two dozen rural schools, bought and paid for programs to a hundred and fifty benefit plays and entertainments, sent all the beggars who want to go places somewhere else; paid all the mortgages on all the panhandlers' mothers' homes and helped out the Blue Cross, the Black Diamond, the Young Sprouts and the Many-mo Baseball League they just happen to run out of caps.

And the result is that the big, important, worthwhile events suffer for want of life blood—money.

I sincerely believe that every Poplar Bluff merchant could well afford to keep books on the million and one donations made during the run of a year. Let him at the outset of a new year, then, make up his budget by setting aside $25 or $50 or $200, as the case might be, and mark that "Good will fund." Let him pool that general contribution with all the other contributions of all the other merchants, business and professional men, and let a bi-partisan, hard-boiled committee of three disburse that money on the merits of each individual case. The merchants would make money by this system; they would rest easier at night; the mendicants and the panhandlers would be disgusted more or less, and assurance would be given that honest-to-goodness community parties would be adequately financed and supported.

And another thing. Why not promote a Community Council which would plan the activities for at least six months in advance? As it is altogether too many charitable and benefit programs, to the lasting detriment of each sponsor-

Ford's Drama of Transportation at New Fair

In the largest exhibit ever built for an exposition, the Ford Motor Company will tell the complete story of transportation from the beginning of time, in the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. A special part of the exhibit will demonstrate Henry Ford's own solution to the farmer's problem. With 84 miles of free exhibits, the new Fair will again be a spectacular international attraction.

Special attention will be paid to the comfort and convenience of visitors. Low railroad and bus rates, and low rates in Chicago hotels will cut the cost of a World's Fair vacation over last year.

Official and social Washington turns out en masse when the Russian ambassador and Mrs. Trotsky hold an at-home. They are said to entertain the most lavishly of all the diplomatic corps. One item they usually serve and which is always in great demand is vodka, the white, fiery liquor which is no less typically Russian than the red flag itself. Its appeal to Americans is due, so they say, to the fact it is so strongly reminiscent of bootleg gin.

Miscellany

Even after the Truman announcement, the senatorial bug did not stop buzzing around Representative Loefer's ears. . . . By and large, the Missouri delegation is cold to the McLeod bill to pay off depositors of closed banks. . . . You hear more and more talk of Senator Clark being the 1940 presidential nominee. . . . A chat with members of the pitiful bonus army now here reveals their conviction a fair deal if anyone will. They still despise Hoover. . . . Up at the top of my list of fine people is Mrs. Clarence Cannon, wife of the representative. She has a grand most genuine persons I've ever met. . . . Putting Andy Mellon's case in the hands of a Pittsburgh grand jury is like trying Hitler in a Nazi court.

Washington Comment

By Foust Roper

WASHINGTON, May 23.—As final acts of the recovery plan become law, one may begin to see how its different parts dovetail together. You cannot help but note the incisiveness and fine balance of the Roosevelt program.

One of the latest eggs in the machinery is the bill to provide credit for small industry. Representative Clyde Williams views this particular legislation as being one of the dominant factors in boosting employment and—above all things—putting the little man back on his feet. The bill was shaped by the house banking and currency committee, of which the Missourian is a member, and he knows whereof he speaks.

Can Borrow Directly

Under provisions of this act, small industrial concerns will be permitted to borrow directly from Federal Reserve banks and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Heretofore these two agencies have been able to extend credit to small firms only through banks.

Another change in the present set-up concerns the length of the loans. The Federal Reserve system deals mainly in 60- and 90-day paper, but through this act the small manufacturer and industrialist can borrow money for periods of years.

"Aid has been extended to banks, railroads, farmers and homeowners," Mr. Williams commented, "and now we are moving to help small business—one of the most important parts of our economic structure. From my study of this bill, I believe it is impossible to

ing organization. With a planned program and no kicking over the traces, the individual organizations would reap immeasurable benefit; the public would be assured better programs; and everyone would be a heap better off financially.

I need a new straw hat. Believe I'll follow the crowd and just "hit the merchants for a donation."

Ain't it awful?
 —Poplar Bluff Republican.

estimate the wide results it will have in improving conditions all over the country."

Clark Averts Red Tape

Senator Bennett Champ Clark went to bat for the little man last week when he introduced and secured passage of an amendment to the communications bill which will exclude small, independent telephone companies from cumbersome regulations of the measure.

But for Senator Clark's amendment, the smallest local exchanges would be under federal as well as state control. The burden of a duplication of a system of accounting would be added to their troubles. Missouri alone has about 700 such companies, Senator Clark told his colleagues.

Sad—But True

The Republicans are kidding themselves about that 23,000 majority in the seventh district, those fifteen Ozark counties which they consider the one bright spot on the G.O.P. horizon.

They credit the election of Frank H. Lee of Joplin, militant foe of Wall Street and the utilities, to the fact that he ran at large and received the support of the Kansas City organization.

The records show that Representative Lee carried these 15 counties by a majority of 11,405, polling 66,843 votes to his opponent's 55,438. He lost only six of them and these by small margins. The Kansas City vote does not enter into these figures. Those 20,000 surplus votes exist only where J. P. Morgan's losses do—on paper.

Needed: A Speaker Clark

What Mr. Roosevelt would give his right eye for is a house leader—Missourian—whose name or like Champ Clark. It was the still often heard on Capitol Hill—who devised a system of party discipline little short of perfect.

In Speaker Clark's time, every member stayed in line, because punishment or reward was meted out surely and swiftly. It is because the Demos have dropped this wise idea—which is the quin-tescence of power—that so many solons now kick over the traces when and as they please.

partment of the NRA, an annual building volume of 800,000 residential units is required to supply the need for new dwellings. This takes no account of replacement of existing sub-standard homes, and until these are replaced the needed volume could easily be at the rate of 2,000,000 structures a year.

A building revival could fall far below these high limits, and still be the most powerful factors in righting depression. No dollar is spent does more work, in stimulating domestic trade and providing employment, than does the building dollar. Surveys show that 37.3 per cent of all the money spent goes to labor at the site—to excavators, graders, carpenters, masons, plumbers, plasterers, etc. The balance of 62.7 per cent goes to buy needed materials and supplies—and the great bulk of that is paid to workers in the plants and factories manufacturing them. In general, about eighty cents out of each dollar goes to labor, directly or indirectly.

The heavy industries—those supplying such manufactures as steel, lumber, cement—were hit hardest by hard times. They are facing the gravest difficulties in recovering from them. Spurring construction would do much to solve a legion of our most troublesome problems.

DILLINGER APPEARS AGAIN

A man appeared recently at the door of a prominent tenant farmer, south of town.

"Is Mr. K. here?" the man asked the farmer's wife as she answered his knock.

"No," he isn't," she said. "I don't know when he'll be back."

"Is his son here?" "No," she said, "he isn't here either."

"Well, tell them Dillinger was here to see them."

Terrified, the woman shut the door and ran to the telephone to call the son's wife. "And Dillinger was here and wants them both," she said.

In separate houses, the two women sat anxiously, thinking of possible danger to their husbands, perhaps repeating one horrifying word, Dillinger. At last the man appeared, calm, whole.

"But where have you been? Dillinger was here looking for you, and..."

"Oh, yes," they said, "Harry Dillinger. He's a buyer for a livestock commission house in East St. Louis."

Sikeston Beats Jackson 2 to 0 at Opening Game

By V. L. Kirby

Before a large crowd at the opening of the Southeast Missouri baseball league, the Sikeston nine defeated Jackson by a close score of 2 to 0.

With one down and Sherry on first base, the second hit off of Conyer for four innings, Crain drove a long double into center field to score Sherry for the first run. Crain later scored on a single by Bandy.

It was a pitcher's battle between Conyer of Jackson and Butler of Sikeston. Butler struck out fifteen Jackson players and allowed eight scattered hits, while Conyer yielded a total of five blows for Sikeston.

One of the feature fielding plays was Bandy's stop and throw of Putz's grounder, which looked like a sure hit. The kid shortstop had to travel fast and make a perfect throw to get his man.

The Sikeston team which is managed by Slim Limbaugh, will play at Jackson, Sunday.

Anti-Sludge Motor Oil

out with SLUDGE the OIL-EATER

Sludge revealed as one of greatest causes of higher oil consumption. New motor oil stops sludge formation—holds down your oil cost.

● Tests prove that Sludge is one of the greatest causes of high motor oil consumption. For sludge collects on piston rings, makes them stick, and one rings are clogged and stuck the engine begins pumping oil.

That is why users of IsoVis "D," Standard's new anti-sludge motor oil, are able to hold down their oil costs. IsoVis "D" keeps sludge formation to a minimum—keeps rings free and lively. It even helps remove sludge formed by previous oils.

This summer keep sludge out of your engine. Use anti-sludge IsoVis "D." You'll find it a long-lasting oil that gives you perfect lubrication even in the hardest, hottest kind of driving. It will save you good money in the long run.

Tired of Winter? Give a Maple Taffy Pull to Welcome Spring

WHEN the running of the sap in the maple trees marked the end of winter's grip, even the sternest Puritans celebrated with a maple sugar festival.

This early American custom has always been a party favorite with the youngsters. A maple leaf outlined in tiny taffy balls makes a distinctive table center piece. Here is a failure-proof recipe for taffy and a fudge that will be extra creamy. The success of these recipes depends on the use of sweetened condensed milk which is thick and rich. Don't confuse this milk with evaporated milk which is unsweetened and thin in consistency.

Maple Taffy

1½ cups (one can) sweetened condensed milk
 ½ cup maple syrup
 Few grains salt
 Cook the sweetened condensed milk, maple syrup and salt together in a heavy pan. Stir over low heat until a hard ball forms when tested in cold water. Cool on a buttered pan. Pull until firm. Stretch into a long rope and cut in pieces.

Maple Nut Fudge

¾ cup sweetened condensed milk
 ½ cup water
 1 cup sugar
 ¼ cup maple syrup
 1 tablespoon butter
 ½ cup pecan meats broken in small pieces

Thoroughly blend sweetened condensed milk, water, sugar and maple syrup. Put in a sauce pan, heat gradually to boiling point, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Cook slowly, stirring frequently until the mixture will form a soft ball (235° F.) when tested in cold water. Remove from fire, add butter, but do not stir it in. When lukewarm, beat until it creams, add nut meats spread in a buttered pan. When it hardens mark in squares.

COMPRESS AT MALDEN SUFFERS FIRE DAMAGE

The Malden Compress Company was burned early Tuesday morning, suffering damage estimated at $750,000.

The blaze, thought to be of incendiary origin, was discovered by Lon Guthrie, night watchman, who stated that flames started in three places simultaneously at 3 o'clock in the morning. An investigation was started at once.

Approximately 500 bales of cotton owned by the federal government and an additional 1000 belonging to numerous individuals, all stored in the compress building, were destroyed. Loss on machinery was estimated at $50,000, and on the building itself, $100,000. The office, where records were kept, and the engine room, were both preserved. Most of the property, cotton and machinery was at least partially insured.

The building, originally built in the south part of Malden by individuals in 1923, was later purchased by the Federal Compress Company of Memphis. The Malden branch was the northernmost one in the United States and was one of three in Missouri. The other two are located at Hayti and Caruthersville.

The Diamond Match Company, which is by far the largest match company in America, is a unique institution, and its president, W. A. Fairburn, is one of those old-fashioned gentlemen with rigid ideas on business morality. Some years ago, when the company experts had developed a process which removed all the health hazards to match workers, the Diamond Company offered the free use of all its patents to the process to its competitors.

Now the annual report of President Fairburn to his stockholders contains this remarkable statement: "The Diamond Match Company, as the largest match manufacturer, felt that, in order to have the code succeed and conform to the dictates and aspirations of the administration at Washington, it would be better to have the smaller manufacturers write the code. It was also felt that, what would be good for them would be good for the good of the industry as a whole, and, therefore, to the well being of your company".
